New Crisis Develops In Coal Controversy; Conciliator Resigns

Fuller Is Dissatisfied with Schwellenbach's Handling of Strike

LEWIS SERVES NOTICE OF HARD COAL WALKOUT

UMW Chief Makes New Demands; Negotiations May Founder Again

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Dissatisfied with Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's handling of the soft coal strike, a federal conciliator threw up his job today, while John L. Lewis flung new demands at the operators and served notice of a strike of 75,000 anthracite miners.

The day's rapid developments produced a new crisis in the coal controversy which has rendered 400,000 bituminous miners idle since April 1.

This is what happened:

1. Paul W. Fuller, special conciliator assigned by Schwellenbach to the rubber industry and "borrowed" for the bituminous negotiations, resigned, effective tonight. Schwellenbach and Conciliation Chief Edgar L. Warren urged him to reconsider.

2. Lewis filed with the Wage Stabilization Board notice of a dispute in the anthracite industry which may lead to a strike of his 75,000 United Mine Workers in the Pennsylvania hard coal fields thirty days hence. Their demands to be presented to the operators May 10 are about the same as those resulting in the bituminous coal strike April 1.

Lewis Raises New Issue

3. The bituminous negotiations, resumed yesterday after nineteen days at Schwellenbach's request and being given artificial respiration by Special Conciliators Edward F. McGrady and Fuller, threatened to founder again. This time they ran up against a wholly new issue raised by Lewis—adjustment of holiday pay for four major holidays since war's end—Labor day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's day.

4. Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va) introduced in Congress a bill to prevent what he called "extortion of tribute or royalties" by labor unions as a condition to the production of essential articles. He said it would apply to the current coal strike.

5. Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, expressing concern over effects of the soft coal strike, called on electric utility companies to put fuel-saving measures into effect. In a letter to 3,000 electric companies dependent in all or part on coal, he urged officials of inter-connected electric power systems to concentrate their production "as far as practicable at generating plants where efficiency is high and coal stocks are relatively large." He said also that the present situation calls for maximum utilization of anthracite, oil and hydro-electric power, "even at the expense of seasonal storage accumulation."

Fuller's Action Surprises Lewis

On the resignation of the mild-mannered, gray-haired Fuller, a former UMW and CIO organizer, Lewis said:

"I am surprised to learn that he has resigned. He has an admirable record as a conciliator. He is a man of high character with an ad-

Gen. MacArthur Disdains Unusual Safety Measures

Reputed Plotter of Attempt To Kill General Remains at Large

TOKYO, Wednesday, May 1 (AP)—Japan's vast May day celebration proceeded in good order today—although the reputed plotter of an attempt to assassinate Gen. MacArthur remained at large and the general disdained any unusual personal safety precautions.

Police and occupation forces sought the accused ringleader, Hideo Tokayama. He was charged with planning a burst of pistol fire and grenades for the Allied commander, possibly at his nearby headquarters, during May day confusion.

Through the crowds circulated American soldiers with carbines, hunting their quarry. Several times before speeches started, armed guards appeared on the platform to look over the heads of the 300,000 to 500,000 persons gathered before the emperor's palace gates—but none was visible when ceremonies began.

MacArthur almost stole the early part of the show when the car in which he was riding to his office passed through lines of paraders. The crowd recognized his five-starred vehicle, and parted respectfully to permit his passage.

As Japanese police gave photographs of Tokayama to the nation's press to aid in the manhunt, Brig. Gen. Frayne Baker, headquarters public relations officer, warned that Tokayama was armed with grenades and pistols.

The plotter now in custody tipped off headquarters after Tokayama, fearing betrayal, tried to poison him, Baker said. The Japanese in custody named five of the total of six men he said were involved.

"Fortunately," Baker continued, "the poison was not immediately fatal. He was taken by Japanese police to an American hospital where through experienced assistance he was revived and gave details of parts of the plot."

Communist General Secretary Kyuchi Tokuda declared that the Communists were in no way involved, had "absolutely no reason to do away with Gen. MacArthur," never heard of Tokayama, and never let former thought policemen join the party anyway.

He blamed the plot on "militarists and old-line capitalists" trying to rise again in Japan. Tokuda asserted the Communists looked upon the Allies as a "liberating force."

Explosion Wrecks Franco Monument

MADRID, April 30 (AP)—A bomb explosion wrecked the Franco victory monument in Barcelona at Barcelona at dawn today.

The blast toppled the three-ton memorial, set up at the intersection of Paseo de Gracia and the Avenida del Generalissimo to commemorate the entry of Franco's forces into the northeastern city in 1939 in the Spanish civil war.

A Barcelona dispatch said no one was injured and that no arrests had been reported by early afternoon.

Safeguards on Secrecy of Top U. S. Weapons Are Found To Be Too Loose

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee reached a preliminary conclusion today that safeguards on the secrecy of top United States military weapons are not tight enough to keep them out of reach of foreign powers.

Indications point so strongly that Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) said, that a Senate Judiciary subcommittee intends to "go much further into the matter."

Eastland explained that a good many parts of wartime secret devices have been now "declassified," or made non-secret. Furthermore, the cloak of secrecy wrapped during wartime about certain industrial processes has been lifted.

By buying parts and making use of this this "know-how," Eastland said, it appears that foreign governments can put together some devices still classed as "top secret."

Eastland said "some government people from several agencies" would be called to testify as well as witnesses from industry.

He said he was "very definitely" of the opinion new legislation should be enacted. The government witnesses will be asked their views on this.

Eastland declared the inquiry "is not aimed at any one particular country but solely at protection of the United States."

The committee launched its investigation amid reports that Russia is seeking to contract for purchases of electronic equipment and to send engineers to this country. Electronic equipment is used in radar and many other military weapons, including guided missiles and shells which automatically explode when they reach the vicinity of their target.

Eastland discussed the situation at an impromtu news conference.

The subcommittee, of which he is chairman, held morning and afternoon meetings behind closed doors with two representatives of the Raytheon Manufacturing Company, Waltham, Mass. The witnesses were Ray C Ellis general manager and William Eaton, Washington representative and a former naval officer.

Big Four Foreign Ministers Clash On Italian Issues

Russia Supports Yugoslav Demands for Trieste and Istria

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, April 30, (AP)—The four-power foreign ministers conference clashed today on two Italian issues, with Russia supporting Yugoslav demands for Trieste and most of Istria, but opposing Austria's request for the South Tyrol.

Opposed by the British, United States and French delegates, Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov demanded that the Adriatic port of Trieste and the greater portion of the Istrian peninsula be taken from Italy and given to Marshal Tito's Yugoslav regime.

Conference sources said the foreign ministers examined four different proposals for the new Italian-Yugoslav frontier. The British, American and French proposals were based on ethnic grounds and were reported roughly similar, but the Soviet proposal placed the frontier line in Istria a great deal farther west.

In the discussion of the Italian-Austrian border, conference informants said, it was disclosed that the ministers previously had agreed that there should be no "major" changes in Austria's frontiers. But the argument today centered on the point of a "major or minor" alteration.

United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin were said to have argued that giving the Tyrol to Austria was a minor rectification, and hence not a violation of the early agreement.

Vigorously opposed by Molotov, they both insisted that an Austrian representative be called to state Austria's case for the Tyrol—in the Alps at the western tip of Austria. The question was referred to the ministers' deputies for study and report.

Senators Back Byrnes Proposal for Treaty

WASHINGTON, April 30, (AP)—A number of senators approved today Secretary of State Byrnes's proposal for a four-power, twenty-five year agreement to keep Germany disarmed.

The Senate would have to pass on any such treaty before it became binding on the United States.

Several members of the Senate Foreign Relations committee indorsed in interviews the idea of agreeing with Great Britain, Russia and France to keep Germany policed for a quarter of a century, but Sen. Bridges (R-NH) expressed disappointment that the group had not been told about the plan before it was submitted by Byrnes at the Paris foreign ministers' conference.

But Sen. Tunnell (D-Del) said he believed the proposal has special value in that its adoption would let Europe know that the United States "is not retiring from the world."

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) told a reporter he thought it had already been agreed to keep Germany unable to fight "and not just for twenty-five years, either."

Sen. Austin (R-Vt) commented that the Byrnes plan is in "entire harmony" with the United Nations Charter, and Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash), member of the Naval Affairs committee and former naval reserve officer, said the twenty-five-year period "probably is as good a choice as any."

Manchurian War Truce Is Foreseen "Within Few Days"

By JOHN RODERICK

NANKING, April 30 (AP)—A truce in China's fraticidal struggle over Manchuria was foreseen "within a few days" by a source close to Gen. Marshall with arrival today of the five-star general for resumption of negotiations which got nowhere in Chungking.

The shift from the wartime capital to Nanking, capital of a rebuilding China, seemed to have cleared away the fog off gloom that hung over Chungking only Monday.

Instead of talk of indefinite delays in arriving at a truce formula, there were predictions now that the government and the Communists would soon get together.

The Marshall headquarters source declared negotiations over Manchuria were proceeding in an optimistic atmosphere and he expected "to see results within a few days."

Negotiations will be resumed as soon as Gen. Chou En-Lai, the Communist representative, and Gen. Hsu Yung-Chang, who speaks for the government, arrive. They are expected Thursday or sooner.

The headquarters source added that at least six plans for a cease-fire agreement had been made, any of which might work, and the rivals were "getting closer and closer" together.

Among the officials who met Marshall, when he and Mrs. Marshall stepped off their plane from Chungking, was Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, Chiang Kai-Shek's chief of staff who is accused by the Communists of being an obstacle to Chinese unity.

In an exclusive interview with the Associated Press, Gen. Ho declared he was one of China's leading liberals and supporters of a democracy.

Jap Officer To Die

MANILA, Wednesday, May 1 (AP)—Japanese Lt. Gen. Takeshi Kono was convicted by a United States military commission today of responsibility for the deaths of 2,500 to 3,000 civilians on Panay island and sentenced to die on the gallows.

Five Are Missing After Explosions Wreck Warship

Nearly 150 Are Injured at Earle, N. J.; Investigation Opens

EARLE, N. J., April 30 (AP) — A series of three explosions followed by fire wrecked a navy destroyer escort, the USS Solar, while it was unloading ammunition today at the navy's Earle depot pier in lower New York bay, putting one officer and four enlisted men on the missing list and injuring nearly 150 others.

Comdr. N. F. X. Banvard, senior medical officer at the naval ammunition depot dispensary here, said thirty-five of the injured, five of them in critical condition, were in hospitals in this area. He said they were distributed as follows: Naval ammunition depot dispensary, twenty-five of them critical; Fort Hancock hospital, Sandy Hook, eight, two of them critical; Monmouth Memorial hospital, Long Beach, one, critical; Fort Monmouth hospital, one, critical.

Banvard said next of kin of the missing and injured had been notified by telegram.

Iunvestigation Begins

A spokesman for the Third naval district headquarters in New York said 130 persons had been treated for bruises, lacerations or shock at the sick bay at Earle and that 109 of them, including twenty-five civilians, were being held for observation in a navy office at Earle, presumably to recover from shock.

The naval district spokesman said a navy investigating board, headed by Rear Adm. Paul F. Foster, navy inspector general, had begun a probe of the disaster.

The bow was sheared from the ship by the force of the blasts and she lay partly submerged, a blackened, twisted wreck alongside the pier.

The blasts detonated an ammunition-loaded railroad car on the pier, destroyed a pier-based warehouse, set fire to the pier, which stretches two and a half miles into the bay, and tore a gaping hole in the concrete structure.

A navy spokesman at the depot here said several men aboard the ship, which carried a complement of fourteen officers and 125 men, were blown into the air. Eight sailors, who leaped into the water after the initial explosion at 10:35 a. m. (EST), were rescued.

Ship Is "Complete Loss"

The spokesman said cause of the blasts had not been determined and that the navy has launched two separate investigations.

The three blasts were clocked at one-minute intervals.

The Solar was shipping water late this afternoon and listing, but was buoyed up partially by halters. The navy described it as a "complete loss" and said its superstructure was demolished.

The blazes in the ship and pier were extinguished within an hour.

The Solar, which had been assigned a month ago to the operational development force which tests new equipment and is based at Solomons Island, Md., arrived here this morning and was tied up at the pier about a mile and one-half from land.

The navy said it was carrying depth charges, known as hedgehogs, and anti-aircraft ammunition, the largest of which were three-inch shells.

U. N. Begins Framing World Bill of Rights

NEW YORK, April 30, (AP)—The United Nations began today the long task of framing a world bill of rights designed to meet the needs of every nation and every individual.

The initial step was taken by the Commission on Human Rights, which unanimously adopted a resolution asking Secretary-General Trygve Lie to compile all available material bearing on the proposed draft of an international declaration of human rights.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the commission, specifically asked that the material include a resolution offered by Philippine Delegate Pedro Lopez calling for an international press conference.

Bridges Moves For Cloistered Supreme Court

Senator Proposes To Bar Political Activity by Justices

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—With President Truman reportedly on the verge of naming a new chief justice, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) demanded today a judicial code change to bar political activities by supreme court members.

Bridges proposed that future appointees to the court be required to pledge not only that they would refrain from political actions but would refuse to lend their names "to movements of public character other than as may be prescribed by law."

He mentioned Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson's service as prosecutor in the Nuernberg war crimes trials as one of the things he had in mind.

The New Hampshire senator's move for a cloistered court seemed unlikely, however, to get the speedy consideration it would need to become law before a new chief justice and an eighth associate are named to fill the vacancy created by the death of Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

Officials generally expect President Truman to make his choice known at a news conference this week, although there were some indications that the final decision still is up in the air.

Most speculation has been that he will name either Justice Jackson or Justice William O. Douglas to the chief justice post. Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, a Republican, led in speculation for the associate post.

Douglas reportedly had the backing of Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan. One group of Democrats, including some senators, were backing Justice Hugo L. Black, oldest member of the court in term of service.

One unverified report circulated on Capitol Hill that Mr. Truman was considering asking former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, 84-year old Republican who retired in 1941, to take over temporarily until

Curran Once Offered To Back His Candidacy, Lacy Declares

BALTIMORE, April 30 (AP) — James J. Lacy, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state comptroller on the ticket of W. Preston Lane, Jr., declared today that Attorney General William Curran had once offered to support his candidacy for that office.

Lacy's statement was made in reply to a speech last night by Curran, Baltimore city Democratic leader, in which he indorsed the ticket of J. Millard Tawes.

"Before Mr. Curran picked Mr. (Charles H.) Roloson to run for comptroller on the Tawes ticket, he offered me his support for that place," Lacy asserted.

"The truth is that he is wandering around from candidate to candidate and from ticket to ticket so much that he is getting slightly bewildered."

Another Lane backer, Samuel H. Hoffberger, asserted: "Both Sen. Tydings and Mr Curran told me on a number of occasions that they were not unfriendly to Mr. Lane's nomination, and felt he would make a fine governor." Tydings also has indorsed Tawes.

In the senatorial race, meanwhile, John J. LaVeck announced he would conduct an extensive campaign through the state beginning this week to seek the backing of rank-and-file Democrats for his candidacy.

He said he was seeking the senatorial nomination to defeat "cheap and petty political maneuvers that threaten not only to undermine the victory we won in the war, but to speed the destruction of the kind of democracy our boys fought to maintain."

Curran declined to say today whether his indorsement of Tawes has ended his announced "furlough" from politics. The speech last night was his first public political activity since his appointment last June as attorney general.

Accepting the appointment from Gov. O'Conor, Curran said then:

"Politics has its burdens, its headaches and its heartaches—of them I have had my full share. I feel that I have earned the right to take a little furlough from politics. This I intend to do. I hope I will succeed in the effort. In any event, being attorney general does furnish a good escape."

Today, he was asked if last night's speech ended the "furlough."

Curran countered with another question.

"Why?" he asked.

"I was wondering," the questioner said.

"Keep on wondering," Curran said, chuckling.

"International Reaction" Is "Hatching Plans for New War," Russian Leader Says

Stalin Promises Soviet Will Be True to Policy of Peace

LONDON, April 30 (AP) — Prime Minister Stalin promised tonight that the Soviet Union would be true to a policy of peace and security but charged that what he described as "international reaction" was "hatching plans for the new war."

In an order of the day broadcast by the Moscow radio the Russian leader also declared that "the nations of the world do not wish a repetition of the calamities of war." He added:

"It is necessary to be constantly vigilant, to protect as the apple of one's eye the armed forces and defensive power of our country (Russia)."

Stalin called on Soviet workers to reach—and exceed—the production goals set up in the Soviet Union's new five-year plan.

Addressing the Russian people, Stalin said:

"We should not forget for a single minute the intrigues of international reaction which is hatching plans of a new war."

Soviet armed forces would be successful in defending peace, Stalin said, only if there was a "further growth of military culture and military skill of the Red army, navy and air force."

His broadcast order, issued in connection with the Soviet Union's May day celebration, was heard in London by the Soviet minitor, official Soviet news distribution agency.

In one passage of the order Stalin declared:

"The entire world has had an opportunity to convince itself, not only on the might of the Soviet state, but also of the fairness of its policy based on the recognition of the equality of all peoples, on respect for their freedom and independence."

"There is no reason to doubt that in the future too the Soviet Union will be true to its policy—the policy of peace and security, the policy of the equality and fraternity of peoples."

Stalin said the first postwar May day—"the international holiday of the working people"—would be cele-

Lady Who Signs Pay Checks for President And Senators Retires

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—H. B. Smith finished out today an eight-year job of signing thousands of salary checks for presidents and senators.

H. B., for that's the way she signs according to the rules although her name is Helen Beatrice, has reached the compulsory age of retirement, 70 years.

She took over the job April 30, 1938, and has signed all checks that Presidents Roosevelt and Truman and the senators have received plus numerous others.

A jolly gray-haired woman, Miss Smith is a native of Washington, D. C., and has worked for the government fifty-two years.

Her successor will also be a native Washingtonian, Mrs. Bessie Rayburn Pallas, who has worked with the treasury twenty-six years. She'll sign checks "B. R. Pallas."

Clark Protests After Russians Buzz His Plane

By LYNN HEINZERLING

VIENNA, April 30 (AP)—Two Soviet fighter planes buzzed Gen. Mark W. Clark's personal plane today, making several swoops but not firing their guns, and Clark immediately lodged a third protest with the Russians.

The American commander in Austria was not aboard the plane, a Flying Fortress, at the time. Last week Clark protested the firing upon two C-47 transports by Russian fighters. Marshal Ivan S. Konev, Soviet commander in Austria, assured Clark that every step would be taken to prevent further attacks on United States planes over Austria.

Clark's plane was being flown from Vienna to Linz by Brig. Gen. Ralph A. Snavely, commander of the air division of American forces in Austria, when the Russians made their runs at the plane. The radioman aboard the Flying Fortress messaged details back to Vienna as the aircraft went on to Linz.

The Russian fighters appeared as the plane was flying over St. Polten, twenty-five minutes after leaving an airport outside Vienna at 9:50 a. m.

Col. Howard Moore, Farmersburg, Ind., was co-pilot on the plane, which was on a mission for United States forces in Austria. Names of others aboard were not disclosed.

On Easter Sunday, two Russian planes fired at an American C-47 near Linz while it was flying between Vienna and Munich. The next day, four Soviet planes fired near the wings of a C-47 coming in to land at Tulln airport outside Vienna. Neither plane was hit.

ATLANTA STREET CAR, BUS OPERATORS STRIKE

Group Opposes Setting Up Arab Or Jewish State

PRESIDENT TRUMAN EXPRESSES PLEASURE

Findings Face Cross-Fire of Protest from Palestine Factions

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—An official British-United States committee of inquiry on Palestine recommended today that the gates of the Holy Land be thrown open immediately to 100,000 European Jews — homeless victims of Axis persecution.

In a 30,000-word report on its four-month investigation, the committee went firmly on record against making Palestine either a Jewish or an Arab state, and said that the government ultimately established there "under international guarantees" must protect Christian, Jew and Moslem.

It called for continuance of Palestine under a mandate—held by Britain since 1922—"pending the execution of a trusteeship agreement under the United Nations." This, if accepted, would nullify Britain's plan to terminate the mandate by establishment of an independent Palestine state.

Findings Are Not Obligatory

Simultaneously, the committee said that, if its report is accepted, "it should be made clear beyond all doubt to both Jews and Arabs that any attempt from either side, by threats or violence, by terrorism, or by the organization of use of illegal armies to prevent its execution, will be resolutely suppressed."

Beyond its recommendation for the admittance of 100,000 Jews immediately, the committee did not make specific recommendations on the number to be admitted in the future. It approved a clause in the original mandate saying that Jewish immigration should be facilitated "under suitable conditions."

Although the committee was appointed by the two governments, there was nothing in its instructions to make acceptance of the recommendations obligatory upon either Britain or the United States. In diplomatic circles here, however, it was regarded as certain that they will carry heavy weight in determining Anglo-American policy toword Palestine. Immediate reaction varied.

President Truman expressed his pleasure. Six months ago, he had

40 Per Cent Cut in Use Of Grains by Distillers During May Is Ordered

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — The Agriculture department today ordered a forty per cent reduction in the use of grains by distillers during May to conserve cereals for famine-stricken areas abroad.

They will be restricted to three days mashing capacity in May, compared with five days each in March and April. The department said the May restriction will limit total use of grains to not more than 2,500,000 bushels.

Under restrictions already in effect, no wheat and wheat products may be used.

Bases Amendment to British Loan Measure Is Supported by Russell

WASHINGTON, April 30, (AP)—The McFarland bases-from-Britain amendment picked up the powerful support of Sen. Russell (D-Ga) today as the Senate heard arguments that the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan might strain relations with Russia.

Russell, who had led the first contingent of senators on a round-the-world inspection of military installations in 1943, told a reporter that he intended to vote and speak for the proposal by Sen. McFarland (D-Ariz).

McFarland's amendment would require the British to yield title to Atlantic bases now under ninety-nine-year lease and to open other areas to American commercial use before they could draw on loan funds.

Russell noted that this was exactly what he had urged the United States to insist upon in 1943 when he told the Senate in a dramatic closed door session, what he and four colleagues had seen on their circuit of the globe.

"I argued with President Roosevelt two or three hours that we ought to get title to those bases and commercial rights while the rising tide of lend-lease was flowing to our allies," Russell said. "We didn't do anything about it. This seems a last chance to nail something down."

On the floor, Sen. Ellender (D-La) asserted that Congress ought to reject the proposed loan to prevent development of strained relations with Russia.

"What would happen between us and Russia if Russia came here and asked for $3,000,000,000 and we refused?" He asked.

"She did as much if not more (in the war) than Great Britain. She suffered a lot more."

Late in the day, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) offered an amendment which would prohibit advancing of any of the loan to Britain until (1) domestic production exceeded domestic consumption and, (2), the national budget was balanced.

Sen. LaFollette (Prog-Wis), told his colleagues that he intended to vote against the loan proposal because he believed it was "a bad bargain and a foolish venture" which would bring "disappointment and resentment" to the American and British peoples.

New Crisis Develops In Coal Controversy; Conciliator Resigns

Fuller Is Dissatisfied with Schwellenbach's Handling of Strike

LEWIS SERVES NOTICE OF HARD COAL WALKOUT

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Dissatisfied with Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's handling of the soft coal strike, a federal conciliator threw up his job today, while John L. Lewis flung new demands at the operators and served notice of a strike of 75,000 anthracite miners.

The day's rapid developments produced a new crisis in the coal controversy which has rendered 400,000 bituminous miners idle since April 1.

This is what happened:

1. Paul W. Fuller, special conciliator assigned by Schwellenbach to the rubber industry and "borrowed" for the bituminous negotiations, resigned, effective tonight. Schwellenbach and Conciliation Chief Edgar L. Warren urged him to reconsider.

2. Lewis filed with the Wage Stabilization Board notice of a dispute in the anthracite industry which may lead to a strike of his 75,000 United Mine Workers in the Pennsylvania hard coal fields thirty days hence. Their demands to be presented to the operators May 10 are about the same as those resulting in the bituminous coal strike April 1.

Lewis Raises New Issue

3. The bituminous negotiations, resumed yesterday after nineteen days at Schwellenbach's request and being given artificial respiration by Special Conciliators Edward F. McGrady and Fuller, threatened to founder again. This time they ran up against a wholly new issue raised by Lewis—adjustment of holiday pay for four major holidays since war's end—Labor day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's day.

4. Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va) introduced in Congress a bill to prevent what he called "extortion of tribute or royalties" by labor unions as a condition to the production of essential articles. He said it would apply to the current coal strike.

5. Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, expressing concern over effects of the soft coal strike, called on electric utility companies to put fuel-saving measures into effect. He blamed the plot on "militarists and old-line capitalists" trying to rise again in Japan. Tokuda asserted the Communists looked upon the Allies as a "liberating force."

Explosion Wrecks Franco Monument

MADRID, April 30 (AP)—A bomb explosion wrecked the Franco victory monument in Barcelona at Barcelona at dawn today.

The blast toppled the three-ton memorial, set up at the intersection of Paseo de Gracia and the Avenida del Generalissimo to commemorate the entry of Franco's forces into the northeastern city in 1939 in the Spanish civil war.

A Barcelona dispatch said no one was injured and that no arrests had been reported by early afternoon.

Safeguards on Secrecy of Top U. S. Weapons Are Found To Be Too Loose

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee reached a preliminary conclusion today that safeguards on the secrecy of top United States military weapons are not tight enough to keep them out of reach of foreign powers.

Indications point so strongly that Ray, chairman Eastland (D-Miss) said, that a Senate Judiciary subcommittee intends to "go much further into the matter."

Eastland explained that a good many parts of wartime secret devices have been now "declassified," or made non-secret. Furthermore, the cloak of secrecy wrapped during wartime about certain industrial processes has been lifted.

By buying parts and making use of this this "know-how," Eastland said, it appears that foreign governments can put together some devices still classed as "top secret."

Eastland said "some government people from several agencies" would be called to testify as well as witnesses from industry.

He said he was "very definitely" of the opinion new legislation should be enacted. The government witnesses will be asked their views on this.

Eastland declared the inquiry "is not aimed at any one particular country but solely at protection of the United States."

The committee launched its investigation amid reports that Russia is seeking to contract for purchases of electronic equipment and to send engineers to this country. Electronic equipment is used in radar and many other military weapons, including guided missiles and shells which automatically explode when they reach the vicinity of their target.

Eastland discussed the situation at an impromtu news conference.

The subcommittee, of which he is chairman, held morning and afternoon meetings behind closed doors with two representatives of the Raytheon Manufacturing Company, Waltham, Mass. The witnesses were Ray C Ellis, general manager, and William Eaton, Washington representative and a former naval officer.

Big Four Foreign Ministers Clash On Italian Issues

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, April 30. (AP)—The four-power foreign ministers conference clashed today on two Italian issues, with Russia supporting Yugoslav demands for Trieste and most of Istria, but opposing Austria's request for the South Tyrol.

Opposed by the British, United States and French delegates, Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov demanded that the Adriatic port of Trieste and the greater portion of the Istrian peninsula be taken from Italy and given to Marshal Tito's Yugoslav regime.

Conference sources said the foreign ministers examined four different proposals for the new Italian-Yugoslav frontier. The British, American and French proposals were based on ethnic grounds and were reported roughly similar, but the Soviet proposal placed the frontier line in Istria a great deal farther west.

In the discussion of the Italian-Austrian border, conference informants said, it was disclosed that the ministers previously had agreed that there should be no "major" changes in Austria's frontiers. But the argument today centered on the point of a "major or minor" alteration.

United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin were said to have argued that giving the Tyrol to Austria was a minor rectification, and hence not a violation of the early agreement.

Vigorously opposed by Molotov, they both insisted that an Austrian representative be called to state Austria's case for the Tyrol—in the Alps at the western tip of Austria. The question was referred to the ministers' deputies for study and report.

Senators Back Byrnes Proposal for Treaty

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—A number of senators approved today Secretary of State Byrnes's proposal for a four-power, twenty-five year agreement to keep Germany disarmed.

The Senate would have to pass on any such treaty before it became binding on the United States.

Several members of the Senate Foreign Relations committee indorsed in interviews the idea of agreeing with Great Britain, Russia and France to keep Germany policed for a quarter of a century, but Sen. Bridges (R-NH) expressed disappointment that the group had not been told about the plan before it was submitted by Byrnes at the Paris foreign ministers' conference.

But Sen. Tunnell (D-Del) said he believed the proposal has special value in that its adoption would let Europe know that the United States "is not retiring from the world."

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) told a reporter he thought it had already been agreed to keep Germany unable to fight "and not just for twenty-five years, either."

Sen. Austin (R-Vt) commented that the Byrnes plan is in "entire harmony" with the United Nations Charter, and Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash), member of the Naval Affairs committee and former naval reserve officer, said the twenty-five-year period "probably is as good a choice as any."

Manchurian War Truce Is Foreseen "Within Few Days"

By JOHN RODERICK

NANKING, April 30 (AP) — A truce in China's fraticidal struggle over Manchuria was foreseen "within a few days" by a source close to Gen. Marshall with arrival today of the five-star general for resumption of negotiations which got nowhere in Chungking.

The shift from the wartime capital to Nanking, capital of a rebuilding China, seemed to have cleared away the fog off gloom that hung over Chungking only Monday.

Instead of talk of indefinite delays in arriving at a truce formula, there were predictions now that the government and the Communists would soon get together.

The Marshall headquarters source declared negotiations over Manchuria were proceeding in an optimistic atmosphere and he expected "to see results within a few days."

Negotiations will be resumed as soon as Gen. Chou En-Lai, the Communist representative, and Gen. Hsu Yung-Chang, who speaks for the government, arrive. They are expected Thursday or sooner.

The headquarters source added that at least six plans for a cease-fire agreement had been made, any of which might work, and the rivals were "getting closer and closer" together.

Among the officials who met Marshall, when he and Mrs. Marshall stepped off their plane from Chungking, was Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, Chiang Kai-Shek's chief of staff who is accused by the Communists of being an obstacle to Chinese unity.

In an exclusive interview with the Associated Press, Gen. Ho declared he was one of China's leading liberals and supporters of a democracy.

MANILA, Wednesday, May 1 (AP)—Japanese Lt. Gen. Takeshi Kono was convicted by a United States military commission today of responsibility for the deaths of 2,500 to 3,000 civilians on Panay island and sentenced to die on the gallows.

Five Are Missing After Explosions Wreck Warship

Nearly 150 Are Injured at Earle, N. J.; Investigation Opens

EARLE, N. J., April 30 (AP) — A series of three explosions followed by fire wrecked a navy destroyer escort, the USS Solar, while it was unloading ammunition today at the navy's Earle depot pier in lower New York bay, putting one officer and four enlisted men on the missing list and injuring nearly 150 others.

Comdr. N. F. X. Banvard, senior medical officer at the naval ammunition depot dispensary here, said thirty-five of the injured, five of them in critical condition, were in hospitals in this area. He said they were distributed as follows: Naval ammunition depot dispensary, twenty-five of them critical; Fort Hancock hospital, Sandy Hook, eight, two of them critical; Monmouth Memorial hospital, Long Beach, one, critical; Fort Monmouth hospital, one, critical.

Banvard said next of kin of the missing and injured had been notified by telegram.

Investigation Begins

A spokesman for the Third naval district headquarters in New York said 130 persons had been treated for bruises, lacerations or shock at the sick bay at Earle and that 109 of them, including twenty-five civilians, were being held for observation in a navy office at Earle, presumably to recover from shock.

The naval district spokesman said a navy investigating board, headed by Rear Adm. Paul F. Foster, navy inspector general, had begun a probe of the disaster.

The bow was sheared from the ship by the force of the blasts and she lay partly submerged, a blackened, twisted wreck alongside the pier.

The blasts detonated an ammunition-loaded railroad car on the pier, destroyed a pier-based warehouse, set fire to the pier, which stretches two and a half miles into the bay, and tore a gaping hole in the concrete structure.

A navy spokesman at the depot here said several men aboard the ship, which carried a complement of fourteen officers and 125 men, were blown into the air. Eight sailors, who leaped into the water after the initial explosion at 10:35 a. m. (EST), were rescued.

Ship Is "Complete Loss"

The spokesman said cause of the blasts had not been determined and that the navy has launched two separate investigations.

The three blasts were clocked at one-minute intervals.

The Solar was shipping water late this afternoon and listing, but was buoyed up partially by halters. The navy described it as a "complete loss" and said its superstructure was demolished.

The blazes in the ship and pier were extinguished within an hour.

The Solar, which had been assigned a month ago to the operational development force which tests new equipment and is based at Solomons Island, Md., arrived here this morning and was tied up at the pier about a mile and one-half from land.

The navy said it was carrying depth charges, known as hedgehogs, and anti-aircraft ammunition, the largest of which were three-inch shells.

U. N. Begins Framing World Bill of Rights

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—The United Nations began today the long task of framing a world bill of rights designed to meet the needs of every nation and every individual.

The initial step was taken by the Commission on Human Rights, which unanimously adopted a resolution asking Secretary-General Trygve Lie to compile all available material bearing on the proposed draft of an international declaration of human rights.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the commission, specifically asked that the material include a resolution offered by Philippine Delegate Pedro Lopez calling for an international press conference.

Curran Once Offered To Back His Candidacy, Lacy Declares

BALTIMORE, April 30 (AP) — James J. Lacy, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state comptroller on the ticket of W. Preston Lane, Jr., declared today that Attorney General William Curran had once offered to support his candidacy for that office.

Lacy's statement was made in reply to a speech last night by Curran, Baltimore city Democratic leader, in which he indorsed the ticket of J. Millard Tawes.

"Before Mr. Curran picked Mr. (Charles H.) Roloson to run for comptroller on the Tawes ticket, he offered me his support for that place," Lacy asserted.

"The truth is that he is wandering around from candidate to candidate and from ticket to ticket so much that he is getting slightly bewildered."

Another Lane backer, Samuel H. Hoffberger, asserted: "Both Sen. Tydings and Mr Curran told me on a number of occasions that they were not unfriendly to Mr. Lane's nomination, and felt he would make a fine governor." Tydings also has indorsed Tawes.

In the senatorial race, meanwhile, John J. LaVeck announced he would conduct an extensive campaign through the state beginning this week to seek the backing of rank-and-file Democrats for his candidacy.

He said he was seeking the senatorial nomination to defeat "cheap and petty political maneuvers that threaten not only to undermine the victory we won in the war, but to speed the destruction of the kind of democracy our boys fought to maintain."

Curran declined to say today whether his indorsement of Tawes has ended his announced "furlough" from politics. The speech last night was his first public political activity since his appointment last June as attorney general.

Accepting the appointment from Gov. O'Conor, Curran said then:

"Politics has its burdens, its headaches and its heartaches—of them I have had my full share. I feel that I have earned the right to take a little furlough from politics. This I intend to do. I hope I will succeed in the effort. In any event, being attorney general does furnish a good escape."

Today, he was asked if last night's speech ended the "furlough."

Curran countered with another question.

"Why?" he asked.

"I was wondering," the questioner said.

"Keep on wondering," Curran said, chuckling.

Bridges Moves For Cloistered Supreme Court

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—With President Truman reportedly on the verge of naming a new chief justice, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) demanded today a judicial code change to bar political activities by supreme court members.

Bridges proposed that future appointees to the court be required to pledge not only that they would refrain from political actions but would refuse to lend their names "to movements of public character other than as may be prescribed by law."

He mentioned Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson's service as prosecutor in the Nuernberg war crimes trials as one of the things he had in mind.

The New Hampshire senator's move for a cloistered court seemed unlikely, however, to get the speedy consideration it would need to become law before a new chief justice and an eighth associate are named to fill the vacancy created by the death of Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

Officials generally expect President Truman to make his choice known at a news conference this week, although there were some indications that the final decision still is up in the air.

Most speculation has been that he will name either Justice Jackson or Justice William O. Douglas to the chief justice post. Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, a Republican, led in speculation for the associate post.

Douglas reportedly had the backing of Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan. One group of Democrats, including some senators, were backing Justice Hugo L. Black, oldest member of the court in term of service.

One unverified report circulated on Capitol Hill that Mr. Truman was considering asking former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, 84-year old Republican who retired in 1941, to take over temporarily until

"International Reaction" Is "Hatching Plans for New War," Russian Leader Says

Stalin Promises Soviet Will Be True to Policy of Peace

LONDON, April 30 (AP) — Prime Minister Stalin promised tonight that the Soviet Union would be true to a policy of peace and security but charged that what he described as "international reaction" was "hatching plans for the new war."

In an order of the day broadcast by the Moscow radio the Russian leader also declared that "the nations of the world do not wish a repetition of the calamities of war." He added:

"It is necessary to be constantly vigilant, to protect as the apple of one's eye the armed forces and defensive power of our country (Russia)."

Stalin called on Soviet workers to reach—and exceed—the production goals set up in the Soviet Union's new five-year plan.

Addressing the Russian people, Stalin said:

"We should not forget for a single minute the intrigues of international reaction which is hatching plans of a new war."

Soviet armed forces would be successful in defending peace, Stalin said, only if there was a "further growth of military culture and military skill of the Red army, navy and air force."

His broadcast order, issued in connection with the Soviet Union's May day celebration, was heard in London by the Soviet minitor, official Soviet news distribution agency.

In one passage of the order Stalin declared:

"The entire world has had an opportunity to convince itself, not only on the might of the Soviet state, but also of the fairness of its policy based on the recognition of the equality of all peoples, on respect for their freedom and independence."

"There is no reason to doubt that in the future too the Soviet Union will be true to its policy—the policy of peace and security, the policy of the equality and fraternity of peoples."

Stalin said the first postwar May day—"the international holiday of the working people"—would be cele-

She took over the job April 30, 1938, and has signed all checks that Presidents Roosevelt and Truman and the senators have received plus numerous others.

Her successor will also be a native Washingtonian, Mrs. Bessie Rayburn Pallas, who has worked with the treasury twenty-six years. She'll sign checks "B. R. Pallas."

Clark Protests After Russians Buzz His Plane

By LYNN HEINZERLING

VIENNA, April 30 (AP)—Two Soviet fighter planes buzzed Gen. Mark W. Clark's personal plane today, making several swoops but not firing their guns, and Clark immediately lodged a third protest with the Russians.

The American commander in Austria was not aboard the plane, a Flying Fortress, at the time. Last week Clark protested the firing upon two C-47 transports by Russian fighters. Marshal Ivan S. Koney, Soviet commander in Austria, assured Clark that every step would be taken to prevent further attacks on United States planes over Austria.

Clark's plane was being flown from Vienna to Linz by Brig. Gen. Ralph A. Snavely, commander of the air division of American forces in Austria, when the Russians made their runs at the plane. The radioman aboard the Flying Fortress messaged details back to Vienna as the aircraft went on to Linz.

The Russian fighters appeared as the plane was flying over St. Polten, twenty-five minutes after leaving an airport outside Vienna at 9:50 a. m.

Col. Howard Moore, Farmersburg, Ind., was co-pilot on the plane, which was on a mission for United States forces in Austria. Names of others aboard were not disclosed.

On Easter Sunday, two Russian planes fired at an American C-47 near Linz while it was flying between Vienna and Munich. The next day, four Soviet planes fired near the wings of a C-47 coming in to land at Tulin airport outside Vienna. Neither plane was hit.

Group Opposes Setting Up Arab Or Jewish State

PRESIDENT TRUMAN EXPRESSES PLEASURE

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—An official British-United States committee of inquiry on Palestine recommended today that the gates of the Holy Land be thrown open immediately to 100,000 European Jews — homeless victims of Axis persecution.

In a 30,000-word report on its four-month investigation, the committee went firmly on record against making Palestine either a Jewish or an Arab state, and said that the government ultimately established there "under international guarantees" must protect Christian, Jew and Moslem.

It called for continuance of Palestine under a mandate—held by Britain since 1922—"pending the execution of a trusteeship agreement under the United Nations." This, if accepted, would nullify Britain's plan to terminate the mandate by establishment of an independent Palestine state.

Findings Are Not Obligatory

Simultaneously, the committee said that, if its report is accepted, "it should be made clear beyond all doubt to both Jews and Arabs that any attempt from either side, by threats or violence, by terrorism, or by the organization of use of illegal armies to prevent its execution, will be resolutely suppressed."

Beyond its recommendation for the admittance of 100,000 Jews immediately, the committee did not make specific recommendations on the number to be admitted in the future. It approved a clause in the original mandate saying that Jewish immigration should be facilitated "under suitable conditions."

Although the committee was appointed by the two governments, there was nothing in its instructions to make acceptance of the recommendations obligatory upon either Britain or the United States. In diplomatic circles here, however, it was regarded as certain that they will carry heavy weight in determining Anglo-American policy toword Palestine. Immediate reaction varied.

President Truman expressed his pleasure. Six months ago, he had

40 Per Cent Cut in Use Of Grains by Distillers During May Is Ordered

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — The Agriculture department today ordered a forty per cent reduction in the use of grains by distillers during May to conserve cereals for famine-stricken areas abroad.

They will be restricted to three days mashing capacity in May, compared with five days each in March and April. The department said the May restriction will limit total use of grains to not more than 2,500,000 bushels.

Under restrictions already in effect, no wheat and wheat products may be used.

Bases Amendment to British Loan Measure Is Supported by Russell

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP) — The McFarland bases-from-Britain amendment picked up the powerful support of Sen. Russell (D-Ga) today as the Senate heard arguments that the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan might strain relations with Russia.

Russell, who had led the first contingent of senators on a round-the-world inspection of military installations in 1943, told a reporter that he intended to vote and speak for the proposal by Sen. McFarland (D-Ariz).

McFarland's amendment would require the British to yield title to Atlantic bases now under ninety-nine-year lease and to open other areas to American commercial use before they could draw on loan funds.

Russell noted that this was exactly what he had urged the United States to insist upon in 1943 when he told the Senate in a dramatic closed door session, what he and four colleagues had seen on their circuit of the globe.

"I argued with President Roosevelt two or three hours that we ought to get title to those bases and commercial rights while the rising tide of lend-lease was flowing to our allies," Russell said. "We didn't do anything about it. This seems a last chance to nail something down."

On the floor, Sen. Ellender (D-La) asserted that Congress ought to reject the proposed loan to prevent development of strained relations with Russia.

"What would happen between us and Russia if Russia came here and asked for $3,000,000,000 and we refused?" He asked.

"She did as much if not more (in the war) than Great Britain. She suffered a lot more."

Late in the day, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) offered an amendment which would prohibit advancing of any of the loan to Britain until (1) domestic production exceeded domestic consumption and, (2), the national budget was balanced.

Sen. LaFollette (Prog-Wis), told his colleagues that he intended to vote against the loan proposal because he believed it was "a bad bargain and a foolish venture" which would bring "disappointment and resentment" to the American and British peoples.

suggested lowering the bars for 100,000 Jews to alleviate the problem in Europe—a proposal subsequently rejected by Prime Minister Clement Attlee, of Britain.

But House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass), chairman of the Political Action Committee for Palestine, Inc., while expressing "gratification" on the immigration proposal, said that he "chafed at the committee for having by-passed the permanent solution of Palestine as a Jewish state."

And it appeared certain that the report would be caught in a cross fire of protest from the two factions in Palestine. Zionist leaders have made creation of a Jewish national home there the backbone of their proposed solution of the question. On the other hand, Arabic groups have recorded in advance their bitter opposition to any large-scale admission of Jews.

Right at the outset of its recommendations, the committee said bluntly "that such information as we received about countries other than Palestine gave no hope of substantial assistance in finding homes for Jews wishing or impelled to leave Europe."

Arabs Criticize Report; Predict Bitter Strife

JERUSALEM, April 30 (AP)—Arab leaders declared tonight that the British-American inquiry committee's report on Palestine would plunge the Holy Land into bitter strife and drive "the entire Middle East into the bosom of Soviet Russia."

The Arab office in a statement said the report—which recommends the immediate admittance of 100,000 European Jews to Palestine—"must be resisted by the unanimous endeavor of the Arab and Moslem worlds."

No official statement yet had been issued by the Jewish agency which will meet in executive session tomorrow.

"The nations of the world do not wish a repetition of the calamities of war," the Russian prime minister said.

Stalin said "the popular masses," through the war, had learned that "the destinies of states cannot be entrusted to reactionary leaders, who pursue narrow caste and selfish anti-popular aims.

"It is for this reason," Stalin said, "that the nations, which no longer wish to live in the old way, take the destinies of their states into their own hands, establish a democratic order and actively fight against the forces of reaction."

The Soviet Union "marches in the vanguard of the struggle for peace and security," he added.

Recalling that the Russian army "hoisted the banner of victory over Berlin" a year ago, Stalin asserted: "The smash-up and liquidation of the main hotbeds of fascism and world aggression resulted in deep changes in the political life of the nations of the world, in a wide growth of the democratic movement of the nations."

Sen. Radcliffe Urges Voters Not To Turn Backs on Experience

DENTON, Md., April 30 (AP)—Appealing for support in his bid for Democratic renomination to the United States Senate, George L. Radcliffe urged a Denton audience tonight not to turn its back on experience.

Declaring that seniority counts heavily in the Senate, Radcliffe said "a new man would be at the bottom of the ladder, with no opportunity for service."

Radcliffe is being opposed for the Senate nomination by Gov. O'Conor.

Pin-ups Adorn Walls Of Court as Hearings In Vargas's Suit Open

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP)—Varga girl pin-ups adorned the walls of the United States District Court today as hearings opened in the $250,000 suits for damages asked by Alberto Vargas of Esquire, Inc., periodical publishers.

The picture pulchritude was displayed before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe in the hearing of the first of Vargas's two suits in which the Peruvian-born artist asks damages and cancellation of a contract. Vargas signs his creations without the "S" because of what he called euphonious reasons.

The suit now before Judge Igoe asks $50,000 damages allegedly owed Vargas for work in excess of that required by contract. The second suit, asking $200,000 damages, states Esquire used one of Vargas's pictures in the April issue without his signature.

Warren said Fuller blamed Schwellenbach's assignment of the dapper McGrady, former assistant secretary of labor and now vice president of the Radio Corporation of America, to the coal case for his withdrawal.

Fuller would say only that he was dissatisfied with the way the case was being handled.

After a conference of nearly an hour with Schwellenbach, Lewis and McGrady, Fuller said he would let the secretary know by tomorrow morning whether he would withdraw his resignation. He told reporters he had no present intention of sitting in the negotiations when they reconvened tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Illinois Progressive Miners Will Strike

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 30—(AP)—The 18,000 Illinois Progressive mine workers were ordered today to cease work at midnight tonight, thus bringing coal production in the state to a complete shutdown.

The order was issued by John Marchiando, PMWA president, after the union and the Coal Producers Association of Illinois broke off contract negotiations.

Marchiando said that "when and if the operators feel they want to do bushiness on a business level, they know where they can reach us to resume negotiations."

The Appalachian Electric Power Company issued a statement at noon advising consumers that a strike is threatening and pledging every effort to continue electric service by using supervisory employes at its generating plant.

Employment, Payroll Increases Are Noted

BALTIMORE, April 30 (AP) — A report released today by the state department of labor and industry showed employment and payroll increases in thirty out of forty-three industries from February to March.

The department attributed the rise to resumption of work at increased rates following the settlement of strikes.

Combined weekly payrolls rose 28.1 per cent from February to March, the report said, whereas the average change of payrolls for that period during the last twenty-three years had been an increase of 2.3 per cent. Employment rose 5.3 per cent, compared to an average of 1.3 per cent in the past.

The report was based on returns by 629 concerns employing 113,074 persons whose combined weekly earnings in March amounted to $5,695,984. Their average weekly earnings amounted to $42.80.

The report indicated the highest payroll increases had occurred in department stores and building construction.

15 Per Cent Hike in Rent Ceilings Is Advocated

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — George M. Englar, president of the National Apartment Owners' Association, asked Congress today to order a fifteen per cent increase in rent ceilings.

If that is denied, he told the Senate Banking committee, he will recommend that his association work for complete elimination of OPA's powers to control rents.

"Our industry did not object to rent control as a war measure," he said, "but the war is over and our peacetime economy is being drafted.

"Are the owners of rental property to continue with rents fifteen per cent below the eighteen pre-war years with wages sixty-eight per cent above?"

The committee is considering legislation to extend OPA for another year beyond June 30.

suggested lowering the bars for 100,000 Jews to alleviate the problem in Europe—a proposal subsequently rejected by Prime Minister Clement Attlee, of Britain.

But House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass), chairman of the Political Action Committee for Palestine, Inc., while expressing "gratification" on the immigration proposal, said that he "chafed at the committee for having by-passed the permanent solution of Palestine as a Jewish state."

And it appeared certain that the report would be caught in a cross fire of protest from the two factions in Palestine. Zionist leaders have made creation of a Jewish national home there the backbone of their proposed solution of the question. On the other hand, Arabic groups have recorded in advance their bitter opposition to any large-scale admission of Jews.

Right at the outset of its recommendations, the committee said bluntly "that such information as we received about countries other than Palestine gave no hope of substantial assistance in finding homes for Jews wishing or impelled to leave Europe."

Arabs Criticize Report; Predict Bitter Strife

JERUSALEM, April 30 (AP)—Arab leaders declared tonight that the British-American inquiry committee's report on Palestine would plunge the Holy Land into bitter strife and drive "the entire Middle East into the bosom of Soviet Russia."

The Arab office in a statement said the report—which recommends the immediate admittance of 100,000 European Jews to Palestine—"must be resisted by the unanimous endeavor of the Arab and Moslem worlds."

No official statement yet had been issued by the Jewish agency which will meet in executive session tomorrow.

brated in conditions of a peaceful life won in the hard struggle against the enemies at the cost of heavy sacrifices and privations.

"The nations of the world do not wish a repetition of the calamities of war," the Russian prime minister said.

Stalin said "the popular masses," through the war, had learned that "the destinies of states cannot be entrusted to reactionary leaders, who pursue narrow caste and selfish anti-popular aims.

"It is for this reason," Stalin said, "that the nations, which no longer wish to live in the old way, take the destinies of their states into their own hands, establish a democratic order and actively fight against the forces of reaction."

The Soviet Union "marches in the vanguard of the struggle for peace and security," he added.

Recalling that the Russian army "hoisted the banner of victory over Berlin" a year ago, Stalin asserted:

"The smash-up and liquidation of the main hotbeds of fascism and world aggression resulted in deep changes in the political life of the nations of the world, in a wide growth of the democratic movement of the nations."

Haugardy urged the association to help arouse interest in the taxation and spending problem, and to write, phone and wire senators and congressmen urging them to reduce spending and to balance the budget.

Several members asked the speaker questions regarding taxes and taxation problems, and there was some discussion regarding expanding the association's membership. There were about fifty present last night, with representatives from several towns throughout the county.

Sen. Radcliffe Urges Voters Not To Turn Backs on Experience

DENTON, Md., April 30 (AP)—Appealing for support in his bid for Democratic renomination to the United States Senate, George L. Radcliffe urged a Denton audience tonight not to turn its back on experience.

Radcliffe is being opposed for the Senate nomination by Gov. O'Conor.

Pin-ups Adorn Walls Of Court as Hearings In Vargas's Suit Open

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP)—Varga girl pin-ups adorned the walls of the United States District Court today as hearings opened in the $250,000 suits for damages asked by Alberto Vargas of Esquire, Inc., periodical publishers.

The picture pulchritude was displayed before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe in the hearing of the first of Vargas's two suits in which the Peruvian-born artist asks damages and cancellation of a contract. Vargas signs his creations without the "S" because of what he called euphonious reasons.

The suit now before Judge Igoe asks $50,000 damages allegedly owed Vargas for work in excess of that required by contract. The second suit, asking $200,000 damages, states Esquire used one of Vargas's pictures in the April issue without his signature.

Employment, Payroll Increases Are Noted

BALTIMORE, April 30 (AP) — A report released today by the state department of labor and industry showed employment and payroll increases in thirty out of forty-three industries from February to March.

The department attributed the rise to resumption of work at increased rates following the settlement of strikes.

Combined weekly payrolls rose 28.1 per cent from February to March, the report said, whereas the average change of payrolls for that period during the last twenty-three years had been an increase of 2.3 per cent. Employment rose 5.3 per cent, compared to an average of 1.3 per cent in the past.

The report was based on returns by 629 concerns employing 113,074 persons whose combined weekly earnings in March amounted to $5,695,984. Their average weekly earnings amounted to $42.80.

The report indicated the highest payroll increases had occurred in department stores and building construction.

COUNCIL IS ASKED FOR IMPROVEMENTS TO CITY STREETS

Petitions for street improvements were submitted to the mayor and council Monday and then were referred to Street Commissioner Myers G. Light and Engineer Ralph L. Rizer.

One petition, containing seventy-five signers, asked that some relatively level outlet be provided for residents of Broadway, Broadway circle, Cromwell terrace and Fort Hill avenue, who have difficulty in bad weather, especially during the winter months. An accompanying petition, signed by grocers, taxi firms, dairies and laundries, also asked for the work.

Another petition, signed by fifty persons, asked that Bond street, between Milton place and Valley street, and Wellington alley, between Bond and Henderson avenue, be improved.

An eight-signature petition asked that Warwick avenue, between Memorial and Greenway avenues, be graded and paved.

Cecil S. Grimshaw, Howard V. Brockey and William Norwood appealed for construction of a sewer on Zihlman way.

P. E. Keney, 457 Waverly terrace, asked that a grade and curb line be given for his improvements as he desires to make improvements.

—German jet-plant at Kahla had a capacity of 1,100 to 1,200 jet-propelled craft a month when V-E Day came.

Republican Optimism And Some Good Advice

AN EDITORIAL in the Washington "Times-Herald" says that there is good reason for Republican leaders to feel pretty good over the political outlook as of the present.

Among the portents and straws in the wind noted are that farmers are widely reported as growing restless under priee controls and regulations. The persistent gentle rain of government checks enabled the New Deal to make heavy inroads among them in the 30s as payments for not growing various products or for plowing under little pigs, it says, but "the word from many a farm area now is that the farmers are fed up with all that and are turning back toward their old love, the Republican party."

Another shadow that perhaps foretells coming events is noted in the recent action of Chester J. Michalak in resigning as president of the Young Democrats of Wisconsin and calling on "all liberal-minded Young Democrats to join the Republican party as the party that now stands for government by the people." The Democratic party, he added, has been taken over by the left-wingers.

But, despite these and other signs giving ground for Republican encouragement, the "Times-Herald" wisely says that the Republicans haven't the November election in the bag as yet because, for one thing the Democrats "still have their government pay roll vote spotted around in strategic areas . . . have a lot of money and can get more." These can be counted on "to fight with the fury of politicians who see their jobs in danger—and only a woman scored has more fury than that."

So the Washington newspaper adjures Republicans to get busy on the ball now and keep busy with it right up to election day. It is good advice.

The Amish Will Continue To Glorify Hard Work

TWO RATHER EFFECTIVE ANSWERS have been given by and for the House Amish sect of plain people to the call made on them to take up the use of tractors in their farming in place of horses as a means of increasing food production.

The Amish people have persistently adhered to their centuries-old custom of using horses and manpower in place of machinery, which they style "worldly contraptions"; and, true to their belief, they have rejected the call to change this custom. They purpose to go on with their farming in their accustomed manner.

One answer in substantiation of their stand is that they are growing more food with their horse-drawn plows than their neighbors produce with tractors. This is not to say that they deny that the tractors can do larger work and do it more quickly. But they declare that, although they choose to do their work harder than others, they get their work done. Two of the bishops, comprising the thirteen of the governing body of the sect, stated that virtually every House Amish farmer has plowed every square inch of his farm while neighbors with tractors are just starting to plow or are "thinking about it."

The use of the tractor, it is contended, "tempts to postpone what has to be done. We, of the House of Amish, put everybody to work as early in the spring as possible, and with the help of God we raise fine crops." There is no gainsaying that, for they do, whatever one may think of the comparative methods of getting it done.

Another answer, made in behalf of the sect, which is also to the point, is that even should the House Amish decide to change to tractors the machines are just not available, while the situation is growing worse as to supply because of strikes.

While the House Amish have thus carried the day in continuing their traditional habits of industry and of minding their own business, and of brooking no interference therein, they have given something for more worldly people to think about with respect to the glory of hard work and individual independence.

America Is in Dark Food Picture Also

CHESTER A. DAVIS, chairman of the President's Famine Emergency Committee, was not thinking of the United States when he said that the world food situation was growing progressively worse, but he would not have been overstating the facts if he had included this country in his dark picture.

The truth is—and any housewife will testify to it—that many of the necessities of life are either disappearing from store shelves or are in such short supply that only the early shoppers can obtain them. Some of them are harder to buy today than during the war.

If any economist or administration stalwart, from Chester Bowles down, has an explanation for this condition, he ought to lose no time in presenting it. If there is any cure for it that should be speedily adopted. Price control has had an extended trial and has been found dismally wanting. All that it seems to have succeeded in doing is to enrich the black marketeers and to keep meat, butter and several other foods from the nation's tables.

All over the land the story is the same. Cattle are being slaughtered, but not by the authorized operators. Meat is being processed, but not by the legitimate packing houses. The inspection system has broken down to such an extent that nobody can be sure whether the little beef and pork that are available are fit for human consumption.

Why must this be so in the world's richest country? The answer is that it need not be so if the OPA will relax its controls to give the ancient law of supply and demand an opportunity to function. The government is playing into the hands of the black market operators and letting the great majority of the people suffer.

One-Sided but a Help, Nevertheless

A STATE DEPARTMENT INVITATION to make a tour of the United States at government expense has been accepted by three Russian journalists: Ilya G. Ehrenburg, of "Izvestia"; Konstantin M. Simonov, of "Red Star"; and Gen. Mikhail R. Galaktinov, of "Pravda." All three are Stalin mouthpieces and the sheets for which they work are government propaganda organs. There are no other newspapers or journalists in Russia.

The Russians came here to address a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Under the terms of the State department invitation they will make trips of their own choosing to any parts of the country they wish to visit.

The invitation to the Soviet journalists is held to be in the American tradition of freedom of the press. They will enjoy the same privileges American newspapermen enjoy. They will be free to write what they please about what they see in America.

No similar invitation has ever been extended to American newspapermen by Moscow. No American correspondents in Moscow—the only city in Russia where American correspondents are permitted—can send a word to his newspaper that has not been censored by the Russian government.

It is to be hoped that these Russians will gain a full realization of what freedom of the press means to Americans. If world peace is to be maintained, understanding among peoples can be a vital force in maintaining it.

Automobiles Just For Transportation

DECISION of both Ford and Chevrolet to put a cheaper car on the market next year indicates that it is the settled judgment of these two companies that there are still many Americans who buy an automobile only for the transportation it offers. They are not interested in gadgets or shiny refinements. All they want is a vehicle which will take them where they find it necessary to go and that with safety and reasonable certainty.

The desire to keep up with the Joneses is an entirely natural one, but it has been carried rather far in some circles and has made no end of trouble for countless individuals. If it is true that a substantial body of people is reconciled to doing with something not quite so good as its neighbor's, it will be a gain all around.

Many persons can get along comfortably with a low-priced car. The bulk of their driving is done close to their homes—to the shops, movies and railroad stations—and this calls for nothing fancy in the automotive line.

Good Sign Is Seen In Veto Reluctance Of the Russians

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 30.—There is more reassurance in Russia's unwillingness to use her veto power in the United Nations Security Council than anything the Russians have done since the sessions began.

The Soviets have had it in their power to block altogether the proposed investigation of the Franco regime. Decision to abstain from voting indicates clearly that the Russians are well versed in parliamentary strategy and that they intend to carry on their world-wide publicity through the medium of the United Nations Security Council without at the same time supporting certain of its actions.

Much is to be learned from the Russian tactics. The Soviets started out to persuade the governments of the United Nations to break relations with Spain, but they were content with a propaganda campaign aimed at Franco.

By abstaining from voting, the Russians accomplished their purpose, which was to place the United Nations Security Council on record as virtually condemning the Franco regime but at the same time serving notice that the issue is by no means disposed of and would come up again for action when the investigation is concluded.

Communism Advocated

The Russian plan, of course, is to stimulate communism inside Spain with the hope that if the Franco regime topples, Spain will become communistic. The communists in France have been seeking the upper hand, too, and they are the ones who have been trying to force the French government into breaking relations with Spain.

As a matter of fact, the Russians are making considerable progress in getting Communist parties started in various foreign countries. These methods of infiltration differ very little from those which the Nazis carried on in pre-war days, and the surprising thing is that the French people have not learned their lesson when they allow foreign governments to exercise influence on their internal politics.

Great Britain and the United States have no sympathy for Franco, but they are in the awkward position of not wishing to hand Spain over to communism. Both London and Washington have been trying for some time to get Franco out, with the hope that a successor regime would be a compromise between the left and the right, and thus avoid another civil war in Spain.

But the Russians have been adamant in their efforts to give the left wing complete dominance in the situation even if it means another civil war in Spain.

One shudders to think what the Soviets would do with any Americans or British who attempted to get inside Russia and start a democratic party there to oppose the Stalin government. Yet, the same Soviets do not hesitate for a moment to intrude in the internal politics of the democracies.

There are evidences that the Soviets are active in Chile, Cuba and other South American countries. Their strategy is to stir up "left-wing" movements wherever they can. This is by no means affecting the policy of the United States and Britain. In fact, if it were not for these two countries, the Franco regime would have collapsed before this. Whatever support the Franco regime has gotten from British and American diplomacy has come about as a direct consequence of the Soviets' extreme tactics.

World-Wide Campaign

All through the world the Soviets are trying to introduce communism first as a minority party and then later as a majority party. Whenever elections are to be held which might go contrary to the communistic plan, there is always a demand for postponement. Where it is believed the communists can win, there is an urgency to hold the elections at once. Thus, in Japan, the Japanese communists have not sufficient strength and hence the Russians have been trying to postpone the elections.

All this is plain to see from the dispatches day by day, but what is most puzzling is that the Russians think the other governments of the world are not observing these tactics. There is hardly a country in Europe where communistic influence has not entered the political party situation. Even in Great Britain the communists are trying to infiltrate into the British Labor party and Prime Minister Attlee has rejected any proposals that the communists be admitted to his Labor party.

All in all, the clash between communism and democracy is being intensified rather than diminished in various countries of the world.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Byrnes Was Put on Griddle by Senators Before Paris Conference, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 30—It has just leaked out that Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes held an important and very hush-hush meeting with the Senate Foreign Relations committee just before he took off for Paris.

Byrnes was there to prepare the senators for the possibility that the Paris conference might be a dismal failure. As a result, several senators got the impression that Jimmy was going to Paris in a defeatist frame of mind. The embarrassing questions they asked probably didn't make him feel any happier.

Byrnes emphasized the importance of getting peace treaties signed as soon as possible, using Italy and the dangerous Trieste impasse a an example to prove the urgency of early settlement. The Russians, he added, however, are holding back.

He also told the senators about the Polish loan, justifying it as a possible lever to help win a free Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, who represents one of the biggest Polish blocs in the U. S. A., stepped election in Poland. Here Sen. Arthur in with some needling questions.

Specifically, Vandenberg wanted to know whether Byrnes believed a free election would be at all possible under Russian domination in Poland. Byrnes replied—with no great conviction in his voice—that "any effort toward a free election is a step forward."

Why Did We O. K. Tito?

Sen. Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, another Republican, then expressed indignation over the State department's recognition of the Yugoslav government of Marshal Tito.

"I am astonished," said Bridges, "at the State department's apparent sanction of this troublesome totalitarian dictator."

Byrnes replied that recognition of a government did not mean "putting our stamp of approval on it." He was taken aback, however, when asked if severing relations with a government did not mean our disapproval. Finally he insisted that the two actions are not to be considered strictly as opposites.

Vandenberg then pressed for an answer as to how the State department feels about disposition of the Polish armies of Gen. Anders, which fought in Italy with the Allied forces and now don't want to go back to Soviet-dominated Poland. Again Byrnes dodged an answer, saying it was up to Congress to determine whether these Polish troops might be granted American citizenship as members of our armed forces, or might be taken into the American army as a sort of "foreign legion."

Byrnes made it plain that the Russians have indicated definite hostility toward American acceptance of these anti-Warsaw Poles.

Note—Byrnes did not indicate that the State department is studying the question on what to do with the exiled Poles. However, members of the Military Affairs committee have been discussing with the War department the idea of using these Polish soldiers to cut our own draft calls. This idea was proposed some months ago by James Cromwell, former United States minister to Canada, and the War department has asked the State department's advice regarding what the repercussions would be from Russia.

Supreme Court Appointment

Up on Capitol Hill, politicos have been taking it for granted that President Harry Truman will appoint a Republican to the vacancy on the supreme court. They base this on the fact that the late Harlan F. Stone was a Republican. If Truman does so, however, he will go against the precedent of every other Democratic president in the entire history of the U. S. A.—except himself.

Truman's own political advisers (their I. Q. isn't too high) didn't seem to realize that Harry broke a precedent of 144 years standing when he appointed Sen. Harold Burton, a Republican, to the supreme court. From 1801 to 1945, no other Democratic president had ever appointed a Republican before.

However, the boys on Capitol Hill so successfully buffaloed Harry that when he originally selected Republican Bob Patterson, then undersecretary of war, for the supreme court, Republican leaders protested that Bob was not a pure enough Republican. Having served in the War department under Roosevelt, they considered his Republicanism slightly tainted. And they raised so much cain that Harry, apparently not familiar with historical precedents, let them get away with it.

The fact is that presidents of both parties always have left the swing of election returns control judicial appointments and have made no attempt to balance the court by crossing party lines. Most presidents have gone out of their way to select justices who not only were of the same party, but would be in tune with their own philosophy. Thus Theodore Roosevelt was careful to ascertain that Oliver Wendell Holmes was sympathetic with "my policies" before he made his greatest appointment.

Republicans Appoint Democrats

On occasion, supreme court justices have even been selected for the express purpose of curbing incoming opposition parties. For instance, John Marshall was appointed chief justice by outgoing Federalist, John Adams, in order to curb incoming Democrats under Thomas Jefferson. Unquestionably, also, the hangover GOP majority on the supreme court in the early Roosevelt days went out of its way to curb New Deal legislation.

Republican presidents, for the most part, have followed the same rule—though there have been exceptions. Up until 1861, only one Democrat was appointed to the supreme court by an opposition president. He was Samuel Nelson, nominated by President Tyler, a nominal Whig, in 1845, just before Polk, a Democrat, was to enter the White House. Tyler had nominated several others to the court, all of them rejected by a Democratic majority in the Senate; so finally, he yielded and named a Democrat.

Since 1861, Republican presidents have crossed the party line six times, usually because of special circumstances; but never have Democratic presidents. In 1863, Abraham Lincoln, wanting to win over northern Democrats and create a new northern party, appointed Stephen J. Field, of California.

Thirty years later, Benjamin Harrison took the unusual step of appointing Howell Jackson, of Tennessee. This was due to the fact that Harrison had been defeated by Grover Cleveland for re-election and a Republican justice could not possibly have been confirmed.

In 1909 and 1910 President Taft appointed two Democrats, one of them Horace Lurton, an intimate friend who had served with him on the Sixth circuit court of appeals in Ohio. Taft's other appointment was Joseph R. LaMar, conservative, a Georgia Democrat.

A similar gesture toward the Democrats was made by President Harding, who, during his brief period in the White House, appointed four supreme court justices. One of them was a Democrat, Pierce Butler, of Minnesota, an extreme conservative reared under the influence of the United States Steel Corporation. He voted with the Republicans far more than the Democrats.

Finally, Herbert Hoover appointed a Democrat, Benjamin Cardozo, to the court following the insistence of Sen. Borah. Hoover had already experienced Senate defeat in the confirmation of John J. Parker, of North Carolina, and when the next vacancy occurred, he reluctantly yielded to Borah regarding Cardozo.

Thought Freedom Is Menaced Here, Pettengill Says

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

If you lived in Japan it was risky to have "dangerous thoughts." The "thought police" would crack you down. Similar bodies exist in all the police states of the world.

We are supposed to have freedom of thought in America—even freedom to speak our thoughts out loud. But that freedom is under attack here, as elsewhere. Some of the boys in Washington don't like "opinion-molding" organizations. They hunger and hone for a federal agency empowered to require all opinion-molding groups, including, as they say, "civic, fraternal, social, patriotic, recreational, religious and welfare" organizations to file reports of expenditures, receipts and names and addresses of contributors.

Churches Affected

A church, as an opinion-molding organization, could be required to open its books to official inspection. Naturally, the thought-police congressmen will say that they wouldn't require this of but a few church or religious groups. They would let most of them go free. But this is the same as saying, "We will police only those we don't like. Those whose views on social and political questions don't jibe with ours are the only ones we care to inspect—or intimidate."

If this plan were not set forth in black and white in the report of a House committee on campaign expenditures, headed by Clinton Anderson, now secretary of agriculture, it would be hard to believe. But there it is, and he who runs may read.

A majority of the Anderson congressional committee thought the Committee for Constitutional Government, founded by the newspaper publisher, Frank Gannett, was an "opinion-molding" organization which the Anderson committee could force to stand and be inspected. It caused Edward A. Rumely, the executive secretary of the C. C. G., to be indicted for failing to comply with its demands. The case has just been tried in the federal court in the District of Columbia before a jury.

The jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty."

Has Wide Interest

This sets the "thought police" advocates back on their heels, and should be of great interest to all newspapers, radio stations, book publishers, and all other opinion-molding organizations in the country.

The C. C. G. agreed that if it were spending money to elect or defeat candidates, or parties, its operations would be subject to injury by Congress in order to protect the purity of elections. But it had spent no money for such purposes and produced its records to prove the fact. Having done that, the C. C. G. asserted that its private papers and records were protected from any further "searches and seizures" by the Anderson committee under the Bill of Rights of the constitution.

Under the "thought police" doctrine a college or a newspaper might be bludgeoned into silence by public officials who don't like what was said by some professor on the faculty, or editor on the staff.

Two Meanings Seen

The presiding judge, James M. Proctor, instructed the jury that the word "political" has two meanings. One refers to principles and policies of government, "activity of a citizen or of an organization of citizens in promoting matters of that sort is . . . the right of every citizen, and to impair it would be to abridge his constitutional right of free speech and free discussion of such matters. Then there is another sort of activity, that which has to do with support or opposition to a candidate for public office or of a political party. . . . That is the sort of activity which the (congressional) committee was authorized to investigate and only that sort."

This should clarify much muddy thinking on the word "political" and give courage to all Americans to speak their minds on public questions.

We---In Ourselves

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

You can tell by the look in all too many faces these days that it isn't very light inside. Lights are needed in the heart. We— in ourselves, need a new glow to carry us over the big humps of fear and doubt.

Every inward prayer is new fuel placed in the open fire of our soul. And how we need it. How the entire world needs it! Faith and confidence need plenty of this warmth to keep their blood streams at an even and healthy flow. We—in ourselves, are a bit of God at work.

The greatest—and most important—problem in this world right now is to feed the hungry in body and in heart. This is no time in which to poison the mind, as many nations are now doing, in their so-called propaganda. Political power is crushing the "last best hope" from the heart of the world. Feed the bodies of the hungry, but the next great campaign must be to educate the spirit.

Inward happiness is the only happiness that counts. There are great forces at work, these confusing days, inside people's minds and hearts. Only a spiritual revival—widespread and with increasing purpose, can give this sick world its dreamed-of hope and confidence in the future of mankind.

Each one of us—we, in ourselves—can do our part, seemingly small as it may appear to be, but all important. "God works in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform." God is still in his heaven, as Browning once wrote, but all is not right with the world. There is a right spirit yet to be created. And this responsibility rests upon each one of us, as well as upon those in high places of influence and power.

We—in ourselves, must never give up our faith, nor allow it to grow thin. It is the one refuge for our moments of fear and doubt. We can retire at any time of the day or night, that we are awake, and give nourishment to our spiritual needs—silent and alone. And we can walk out into the light, refreshed and invigorated, for having given ourselves over to meditation and inward devotion.

Boy, those used-car dealers are really cleaning up these days. In fact, "Mad-man Muntz" is now wearing mink straitjackets. . . And the "Smiling Irishman" is laughing out loud.

Republican Optimism And Some Good Advice

AN EDITORIAL in the Washington "Times-Herald" says that there is good reason for Republican leaders to feel pretty good over the political outlook as of the present.

Among the portents and straws in the wind noted are that farmers are widely reported as growing restless under price controls and regulations. The persistent gentle rain of government checks enabled the New Deal to make heavy inroads among them in the 30s as payments for not growing various products or for plowing under little pigs, it says, but "the word from many a farm area now is that the farmers are fed up with all that and are turning back toward their old love, the Republican party."

Another shadow that perhaps foretells coming events is noted in the recent action of Chester J. Michalak in resigning as president of the Young Democrats of Wisconsin and calling on "all liberal-minded Young Democrats to join the Republican party as the party that now stands for government by the people." The Democratic party, he added, has been taken over by the left-wingers.

But, despite these and other signs giving ground for Republican encouragement, the "Times-Herald" wisely says that the Republicans haven't the November election in the bag as yet because, for one thing the Democrats "still have their government pay roll vote spotted around in strategic areas . . . have a lot of money and can get more." These can be counted on "to fight with the fury of politicians who see their jobs in danger—and only a woman scored has more fury than that."

So the Washington newspaper adjures Republicans to get busy on the ball now and keep busy with it right up to election day. It is good advice.

The Amish Will Continue To Glorify Hard Work

TWO RATHER EFFECTIVE ANSWERS have been given by and for the House Amish sect of plain people to the call made on them to take up the use of tractors in their farming in place of horses as a means of increasing food production.

The Amish people have persistently adhered to their centuries-old custom of using horses and manpower in place of machinery, which they style "worldly contraptions"; and, true to their belief, they have rejected the call to change this custom. They purpose to go on with their farming in their accustomed manner.

One answer in substantiation of their stand is that they are growing more food with their horse-drawn plows than their neighbors produce with tractors. This is not to say that they deny that the tractors can do larger work and do it more quickly. But they declare that, although they choose to do their work harder than others, they get their work done. Two of the bishops, comprising the thirteen of the governing body of the sect, stated that virtually every House Amish farmer has plowed every square inch of his farm while neighbors with tractors are just starting to plow or are "thinking about it."

The use of the tractor, it is contended, "tempts to postpone what has to be done. We, of the House of Amish, put everybody to work as early in the spring as possible, and with the help of God we raise fine crops." There is no gainsaying that, for they do, whatever one may think of the comparative methods of getting it done.

Another answer made in behalf of the sect, which is also to the point, is that even should the House Amish decide to change to tractors the machines are just not available, while the situation is growing worse as to supply because of strikes.

While the House Amish have thus carried the day in continuing their traditional habits of industry and of minding their own business, and of brooking no interference therein, they have given something for more worldly people to think about with respect to the glory of hard work and individual independence.

America Is in Dark Food Picture Also

CHESTER A. DAVIS, chairman of the President's Famine Emergency Committee, was not thinking of the United States when he said that the world food situation was growing progressively worse, but he would not have been overstating the facts if he had included this country in his dark picture.

The truth is—and any housewife will testify to it—that many of the necessities of life are either disappearing from store shelves or are in such short supply that only the early shoppers can obtain them. Some of them are harder to buy today than during the war.

If any economist or administration stalwart, from Chester Bowles down, has an explanation for this condition, he ought to lose no time in presenting it. If there is any cure for it that should be speedily adopted. Price control has had an extended trial and has been found dismally wanting. All that it seems to have succeeded in doing is to enrich the black marketeers and to keep meat, butter and several other foods from the nation's tables.

All over the land the story is the same. Cattle are being slaughtered, but not by the authorized operators. Meat is being processed, but not by the legitimate packing houses. The inspection system has broken down to such an extent that nobody can be sure whether the little beef and pork that are available are fit for human consumption.

Why must this be so in the world's richest country? The answer is that it need not be so if the OPA will relax its controls to give the ancient law of supply and demand an opportunity to function. The government is playing into the hands of the black market operators and letting the great majority of the people suffer.

One-Sided but a Help, Nevertheless

A STATE DEPARTMENT INVITATION to make a tour of the United States at government expense has been accepted by three Russian journalists: Ilya G. Ehrenburg, of "Izvestia"; Konstantin M. Simonov, of "Red Star"; and Gen. Mikhail R. Galaktinov, of "Pravda." All three are Stalin mouthpieces and the sheets for which they work are government propaganda organs. There are no other newspapers or journalists in Russia.

The Russians came here to address a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Under the terms of the State department invitation they will make trips of their own choosing to any parts of the country they wish to visit.

The invitation to the Soviet journalists is held to be in the American tradition of freedom of the press. They will enjoy the same privileges American newspapermen enjoy. They will be free to write what they please about what they see in America.

No similar invitation has ever been extended to American newspapermen by Moscow. No American correspondents in Moscow—the only city in Russia where American correspondents are permitted—can send a word to his newspaper that has not been censored by the Russian government.

It is to be hoped that these Russians will gain a full realization of what freedom of the press means to Americans. If world peace is to be maintained, understanding among peoples can be a vital force in maintaining it.

Automobiles Just For Transportation

DECISION of both Ford and Chevrolet to put a cheaper car on the market next year indicates that it is the settled judgment of these two companies that there are still many Americans who buy an automobile only for the transportation it offers. They are not interested in gadgets or shiny refinements. All they want is a vehicle which will take them where they find it necessary to go and that with safety and reasonable certainty.

The desire to keep up with the Joneses is an entirely natural one, but it has been carried rather far in some circles and has made no end of trouble for countless individuals. If it is true that a substantial body of people is reconciled to doing with something not quite so good as its neighbor's, it will be a gain all around.

Many persons can get along comfortably with a low-priced car. The bulk of their driving is done close to their homes—to the shops, movies and railroad stations—and this calls for nothing fancy in the automotive line.

Good Sign Is Seen In Veto Reluctance Of the Russians

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 30.—There is more reassurance in Russia's unwillingness to use her veto power in the United Nations Security Council than anything the Russians have done since the sessions began.

The Soviets have had it in their power to block altogether the proposed investigation of the Franco regime. Decision to abstain from voting indicates clearly that the Russians are well versed in parliamentary strategy and that they intend to carry on their world-wide publicity through the medium of the United Nations Security Council without at the same time supporting certain of its actions.

Much is to be learned from the Russian tactics. The Soviets started out to persuade the governments of the United Nations to break relations with Spain, but they were content with a propaganda campaign aimed at Franco.

By abstaining from voting, the Russians accomplished their purpose, which was to place the United Nations Security Council on record as virtually condemning the Franco regime but at the same time serving notice that the issue is by no means disposed of and would come up again for action when the investigation is concluded.

Communism Advocated

The Russian plan, of course, is to stimulate communism inside Spain with the hope that if the Franco regime topples, Spain will become communistic. The communists in France have been seeking the upper hand, too, and they are the ones who have been trying to force the French government into breaking relations with Spain.

As a matter of fact, the Russians are making considerable progress in getting Communist parties started in various foreign countries. These methods of infiltration differ very little from those which the Nazis carried on in pre-war days, and the surprising thing is that the French people have not learned their lesson when they allow foreign governments to exercise influence on their internal politics.

Great Britain and the United States have no sympathy for Franco, but they are in the awkward position of not wishing to hand Spain over to communism. Both London and Washington have been trying for some time to get Franco out, with the hope that a successor regime would be a compromise between the left and the right, and thus avoid another civil war in Spain.

But the Russians have been adamant in their efforts to give the left wing complete dominance in the situation even if it means another civil war in Spain.

One shudders to think what the Soviets would do with any Americans or British who attempted to get inside Russia and start a democratic party there to oppose the Stalin government. Yet, the same Soviets do not hesitate for a moment to intrude in the internal politics of the democracies.

There are evidences that the Soviets are active in Chile, Cuba and other South American countries. Their strategy is to stir up "left-wing" movements wherever they can. This is by no means affecting the policy of the United States and Britain. In fact, if it were not for these two countries, the Franco regime would have collapsed before this. Whatever support the Franco regime has gotten from British and American diplomacy has come about as a direct consequence of the Soviets' extreme tactics.

World-Wide Campaign

All through the world the Soviets are trying to introduce communism first as a minority party and then later as a majority party. Whenever elections are to be held which might go contrary to the communistic plan, there is always a demand for postponement. Where it is believed the communists can win, there is an urgency to hold the elections at once. Thus, in Japan, the Japanese communists have not sufficient strength and hence the Russians have been trying to postpone the elections.

All this is plain to see from the dispatches day by day, but what is most puzzling is that the Russians think the other governments of the world are not observing these tactics. There is hardly a country in Europe where communistic influence has not entered the political party situation. Even in Great Britain the communists are trying to infiltrate into the British Labor party and Prime Minister Attlee has rejected any proposals that the communists be admitted to his Labor party.

All in all, the clash between communism and democracy is being intensified rather than diminished in various countries of the world.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 30—It has just leaked out that Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes held an important and very hush-hush meeting with the Senate Foreign Relations committee just before he took off for Paris.

Byrnes was there to prepare the senators for the possibility that the Paris conference might be a dismal failure. As a result, several senators got the impression that Jimmy was going to Paris in a defeatist frame of mind. The embarrassing questions they asked probably didn't make him feel any happier.

Byrnes emphasized the importance of getting peace treaties signed as soon as possible, using Italy and the dangerous Trieste impasse a an example to prove the urgency of early settlement. The Russians, he added, however, are holding back.

He also told the senators about the Polish loan, justifying it as a possible lever to help win a free

Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, who represents one of the biggest Polish blocs in the U. S. A., stepped election in Poland. Here Sen. Arthur in with some needling questions.

Specifically, Vandenberg wanted to know whether Byrnes believed a free election would be at all possible under Russian domination in Poland. Byrnes replied—with no great conviction in his voice—that "any effort toward a free election is a step forward."

Why Did We O. K. Tito?

Sen. Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, another Republican, then expressed indignation over the State department's recognition of the Yugoslav government of Marshal Tito.

"I am astonished," said Bridges, "at the State department's apparent sanction of this troublesome totalitarian dictator."

Byrnes replied that recognition of a government did not mean "putting our stamp of approval on it." He was taken aback, however, when asked if severing relations with a government did not mean our disapproval. Finally he insisted that the two actions are not to be considered strictly as opposites.

Vandenberg then pressed for an answer as to how the State department feels about disposition of the Polish armies of Gen. Anders, which fought in Italy with the Allied forces and now don't want to go back to Soviet-dominated Poland. Again Byrnes dodged an answer, saying it was up to Congress to determine whether these Polish troops might be granted American citizenship as members of our armed forces, or might be taken into the American army as a sort of "foreign legion."

Byrnes made it plain that the Russians have indicated definite hostility toward American acceptance of these anti-Warsaw Poles.

No. 2—Byrnes did not indicate that the State department is studying the question on what to do with the exiled Poles. However, members of the Military Affairs committee have been discussing with the War department the idea of using these Polish soldiers to cut our own draft calls. This idea was proposed some months ago by James Cromwell, former United States minister to Canada, and the War department has asked the State department's advice regarding what the repercussions would be from Russia.

If this plan were not set forth in black and white in the report of a House committee on campaign expenditures, headed by Clinton Anderson, now secretary of agriculture, it would be hard to believe. But there it is, and he who runs may read.

A majority of the Anderson congressional committee thought the Committee for Constitutional Government, founded by the newspaper publisher, Frank Gannett, was an "opinion-molding" organization which the Anderson committee could force to stand and be inspected. It caused Edward A. Rumely, the executive secretary of the C. C. G., to be indicted for failing to comply with its demands. The case has just been tried in the federal court in the District of Columbia before a jury.

The jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty."

Has Wide Interest

This sets the "thought police" advocates back on their heels, and should be of great interest to all newspapers, radio stations, book publishers, and all other opinion-molding organizations in the country.

The C. C. G. agreed that if it were spending money to elect or defeat candidates, or parties, its operations would be subject to inquiry by Congress in order to protect the purity of elections. But it had spent no money for such purposes and produced its records to prove the fact. Having done that, the C. C. G. asserted that its private papers and records were protected from any further "searches and seizures" by the Anderson committee under the Bill of Rights of the constitution.

Under the "thought police" doctrine a college or a newspaper might be bludgeoned into silence by public officials who don't like what was said by some professor on the faculty, or editor on the staff.

Two Meanings Seen

The presiding judge, James M. Proctor, instructed the jury that the word "political" has two meanings. One refers to principles and policies of government. "activity of a citizen or of an organization of citizens in promoting matters of that sort is . . . the right of every citizen, and to impair it would be to abridge his constitutional right of free speech and free discussion of such matters. Then there is another sort of activity, that which has to do with support or opposition to a candidate for public office or of a political party. . . . That is the sort of activity which the (congressional) committee was authorized to investigate and only that sort."

This should clarify much muddy thinking on the word "political" and give courage to all Americans to speak their minds on public questions.

We---In Ourselves

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

You can tell by the look in all too many faces these days that it isn't very light inside. Lights are needed in the heart. We— in ourselves, need a new glow to carry us over the big humps of fear and doubt.

Every inward prayer is new fuel placed in the open fire of our soul. And how we need it. How the entire world needs it! Faith and confidence need plenty of this warmth to keep their blood streams at an even and healthy flow. We—in ourselves, are a bit of God at work.

The greatest—and most important—problem in this world right now is to feed the hungry in body and in heart. This is no time in which to poison the mind, as many nations are now doing, in their so-called propaganda. Political power is crushing the "last best hope" from the heart of the world. Feed the bodies of the hungry, but the next great campaign must be to educate the spirit.

Inward happiness is the only happiness that counts. There are great forces at work, these confusing days, inside people's minds and hearts. Only a spiritual revival—widespread and with increasing purpose, can give this sick world its dreamed-of hope and confidence in the future of mankind.

Each one of us—we, in ourselves—can do our part, seemingly small as it may appear to be, but all important. "God works in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform." God is still in his heaven, as Browning once wrote, but all is not right with the world. There is a right spirit yet to be created. And this responsibility rests upon each one of us, as well as upon those in high places of influence and power.

We—in ourselves, must never give up our faith, nor allow it to grow thin. It is the one refuge for our moments of fear and doubt. We can retire at any time of the day or night, that we are awake, and give nourishment to our spiritual needs—silent and alone. And we can walk out into the light, refreshed and invigorated, for having given ourselves over to meditation and inward devotion.

Bad Posture May Produce Spinal Joint Disorder

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

The spine might be called a series of joints. Like the bigger joints elsewhere in the body, those of the spine may become inflamed. This inflamed condition is known as osteoarthritis.

As a rule, osteoarthritis develops only in older people. Not only are the joints inflamed, but some overgrowth of the bone occurs so that there is stiffness as well as pain. This fact also makes an x-ray of the spine of great usefulness in diagnosing this disease.

Cause Unknown

The exact cause of osteoarthritis of the spine is not known. According to Dr. Ernest Fletcher, of England, infection in the teeth, tonsils and sinuses is not, as a rule, a factor in producing the disorder. Poor posture, he thinks, often plays a great part not only in producing the disorder but in aggravating the symptoms.

Persons with osteoarthritis of the spine do not get along well if they take a great deal of exercises. However, once the weight is taken off the spine, movements seem to be of help. This can be attained in part by exercise taken in bed. What are known as passive movements with the muscles relaxed are also of benefit. For example, the patient may lie down while the physician moves the patient's head from side to side. This is done very gently and carefully.

Another Exercise

Another exercise is to have the patient lie on his abdomen and then to give gentle twisting movements to the upper part of the spine. An exercise which the patient may take himself is to have him lie down with his legs held down by the bedclothes. The patient leans forward and then tries to touch his toes with his fingers. This exercise may be repeated several times.

Heat and massage may be of some slight benefit. Perhaps the most important part of the treatment is to correct the patient's posture. This means that the patient, when standing, should carry about as much weight on his heels as on the front part of the foot. There should be as little bending as possible at the hops and the knees should be straight.

If there are any abnormal curves in the spine these may have to be corrected by braces or casts.

Of course, these measures cannot be expected to cure the osteoarthritis but they should give some relief from symptoms.

Questions and Answers

A. C.: Will you please tell me if injections of hormones are helpful for change of life?

Answer: The use of injections of the hormone known as estrogenic substance is helpful in relieving the symptoms, such as hot flushes, which may be caused by the change of life.

A. I.: Would it be harmful for a person who is a diabetic to use saccharin tablets?

Answer: There is no evidence of which I am aware that the use of saccharin tablets is harmful in any way.

Friendly Attitude Toward Aliens Is Urged by Speaker

Addressing an audience of seventy-five persons at the annual Americanization day program of the auxiliary of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mrs. Robert R. Henderson said last night that Americans should welcome foreign war brides and all other aliens who come to this country.

"There is much that we may learn from them because of their closer contact with the war," Mrs. Henderson said. "They have come to the United States to share our freedom of religion, of speech and of political thinking, and we welcome them."

In keeping with the patriotic theme of the program, Mrs. Henderson gave a short discussion of the history of the state flag, pointing out that James W. Thomas, a Cumberland attorney, prepared the bill under which the present flag was adopted officially in 1904.

War Brides Presented

Two English war brides, Mrs. Peg McIntosh and Mrs. Joyce Miltenberger, were guests of honor at the event, and were introduced by Mrs. G. R. Golladay, chairman of the Americanization day program, who presided. Mrs. Golladay also introduced a French bride of 1919, Mrs. Madeleine Hornbrook, wife of Charles Hornbrook, photographer for the Times and Alleganian Company.

Other guests of honor were three high school students who won prizes in an essay contest sponsored by the auxiliary on the topic, "What I Can Do for My Country."

Calvin Mahaney, Fort Hill high school, winner of first prize, read his essay aloud. The paper cited the continuance of education, practice of tolerance toward persons of all religions and races, and necessity of keeping well informed on current events as important ways in which young people can develop into good citizens.

Essay Winners Introduced

Other prize winners who were introduced by Mrs. Grace Bosenberg, essay chairman, were Allen Macy, Allegany high school, second prize; and Miss Elaine Cole, Fort Hill, third prize. Each of the winners received a gift from the auxiliary, presented by Mrs. Bosenberg.

Mrs. Bosenberg said that approximately 100 essays were entered in the contest by students of Allegany, Fort Hill and Ursuline academy, and twenty-three essays reached the finals. Judges were the Rev. Charles W. Bogan, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church; the Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Mark's Reformed church; and J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times.

Another feature of the program was the presentation of an American flag to Allegany high school by Mrs. Mary Simons, patriotic instructor. The flag was accepted by Ralph R. Webster, principal of the school.

Group singing of "America the Beautiful" and the national anthem was directed by Mrs. Naomi Judy, who furnished the piano accompaniments. A "get acquainted" hour was held at the close of the program, and refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Helen Bujac.

Miss Myra Nefflen Presents History of Organization and Activities

The Business and Professional Women's Club elected officers for the ensuing year; discussed the state convention and heard the history of the club presented by Miss Myra Nefflen, at the dinner-meeting last evening at Central YMCA.

The club re-elected Miss Anna Nicht, president and Miss Nan Livingstone, treasurer; other officers include Miss Ann Tennant, first vice president; Miss Virginia Neff, second vice president and Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, secretary.

A group of delegates will attend the state convention to be held in Hagerstown this weekend; and will vote for a change in the state constitution. Miss Ann Nicht and Theresa Nicht will also act as members of the state Nominating committee.

Miss Jane Botsford reported that to date sixteen packages of clothing and food have been sent to Business and Professional overseas. One more shipment will be made this year.

Miss Nefflen, principal of Cresaptown school, presented the club history and acknowledged with the appreciation the secretaries, present and past who assisted her in writing it.

Beginning with the organizing of a "Quota Club" May 13, 1926, Miss Nefflen traced the activities of the club, which met for slightly less than two years. Then realizing that "because of the restrictions regarding classification for membership, namely that only one person from the same business or profession was eligible for membership to the club, it would be difficult, if not impossible, to have an organization large enough to be effective, and to have as members the Cumberland business women interested in such an organization. The group therefore unanimously agreed, January 10, 1928, to surrender the charter of the Quota Club and to organize a Business and Professional Women's Club."

May 4, 1928 the Business and Professional Women's Club of Cumberland was officially received into the national federation. The charter members were Maude A. Bean, Lillian C. Compton, Eula Cook, Wella Cook, Ethyl Dantzic, Julia Jackson, Eula Jamison, Genevieve Reinhart, Mary B. Wickard, Sara Roberta Getty, Dr. Eiler, Rose Jackson and Pearl Piper. Miss Compton, Miss Jamison, Miss Reinhart and Miss Jackson were the first officers. The club today has a membership of sixty-three business and professional women.

The club has been entertained in music, art, drama or literature fields; flowers and cards are habitually sent to sick members; needy families are aided from time to time; and boxes of clothing and food sent to members overseas.

The club has sponsored, or participated actively in, or contributed to, the Crippled Children's League, Red Cross, Tuberculosis and Cancer Clinics at Memorial hospital, Kitchens for British Relief, Bundles for Britain, Community Chest, National War Fund, Salvation Army, YMCA, First Aid Classes, Volunteer Nurses Aid, Chinese Relief and Medical Aid; defense stamps and bonds, Ohio Flood Relief, filling stockings for veterans at Newton D. Baker hospital, assisting girls financially to get business or professional training beyond high school; furnishing Y and summer camp memberships to girls, the Lena Madesin Phillips Home in Washington; besides annual Christmas party from which gifts are distributed through schools for underprivileged children.

Special Issues Exhibit Strength In Market; Rails Show Improvement

New York, April 30 (AP)—Special issues exhibited strength in today's stock market while many leaders again lacked rising vigor.

Actual and potential splitups, dividends and earnings served to prop favorites. Resumption of coal strike negotiations brought some bidding on hopes for an early settlement of this dispute. Rails improved due to the belief this group had been oversold because of a sharp first quarter income drop. Expectations of labor peace aided coppers. Business prospects still buoyed rubbers. Numerous cutomers held aloof, however, to wait further light on price controls. Heavy selling of long-term treasury loans tended to dim investment sentiment.

Of 982 issues registering, 457 rose and 324 declined. Transfers of 1,000,000 shares equalled those of Monday, which were the smallest for a full stretch since last March 28.

Ahead fractions to around two were du Pont, Republic Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Goodyear, Goodrich, United States Rubber, United Aircraft, Eastern Air Lines, American Telephone, Anaconda, Kennecott, Caterpillar Tractor and United States Gypsum.

Among the day's losers were Southern Railway, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, North American, Boeing, American Airlines, Phelps Dodge, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric and Philip Morris.

Among forward Curb leaders were Babcock and Wilcox, Textron and United Gas. Ford Motors of Canada "A" yielded one and one-eighth when the dividend normally declared at this time was deferred. Turnover here was 450,000 shares versus 440,000 yesterday.

Heavy selling of long-term United States government loans toppled prices until late support steadied the marked in bond dealings.

Turnover in all federal issues in the exchange was the largest in seven years and helped lift total business to $11,960,000, the busiest day in five months. This compared with $5,120,000 Monday.

Closing ahead were Baltimore and Ohio stamped convertibles at 78¼, Chicago and Eastern Illinois incomes at 67¾, St. Paul convertibles at 82½, Lehigh Valley 4s of 2003 at 54½, Frisco 4½s at 44½ and Seaboard incomes at 85.

Lower were bonds of Central of Georgia, Rock Island, Louisville and Nashville and Northern Pacific.

Mothers-in-Law Often Infringe On Wives' Rights

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Nothing shows a man up in his true colors more clearly than the attitude he takes toward his mother after his marriage.

The attitude I'm talking about has nothing whatever to do with his love toward her, or his responsibility for her, or his desire to see her happy. Naturally, if he's the right kind of man, he's not going to change fundamentally in these things but will adapt them as may be necessary to fit in with his new life without letting them conflict with the rights or happiness of his wife.

But when these things do conflict with his wife's rights and happiness, his attitude demonstrates in short order whether he's a man or a mouse, an adult or a grown-up baby.

It doesn't take long to decide which of these describes the husband of the girl who writes the following letter:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am 23 years old and had been married about a year when my husband was discharged from the navy. Shortly after, we separated, because of his mother. I walked out. It was the only thing for me to do because we were living with her.

"She was very forward about everything. In front of me she was wonderful. Then, when my husband was alone with her, she put things into his head which he shouldn't have let her do if he really loved me. One thing was for him not to go to work. So I had to go, and then of course he wanted to go out every night on my money. I wouldn't have cared about that, but I had to go to work in the morning and it was hard on me and was wearing me down. I just couldn't stand it. Also, his mother kept telling me to leave her son, and I was losing weight just thinking about it. I really do love him but my future is more important.

"Now I have filed for divorce, and I'm wondering if I'm right. I know in a way I am so right — that he'll never be what I want him to be if his mother is around. He didn't say one word when I walked out. If he had at least walked out with me, then I'd think the world of him.

"He is working now, in the same place with me, but on a different floor and we never speak. He goes out and meets a married woman with two children.

"I guess we would have been all right if we had lived alone. Maybe he would have had sense of responsibility. I guess his mother was the cause, but he was to blame, too.

"NEEDS HeLP"

You know, I have a feeling that you don't really want a divorce. If you are perfectly sure about it in your own mind, you'd hardly be writing to ask me if you were right.

What I think you'd like would be to start all over again with your husband, independent of his mother, and have another try.

You say you know your husband will never be what you want him to be if his mother is around, and of course you were hurt and disillusioned when he let you walk out without a word and stayed behind. Perhaps now he wishes he hadn't done that, but is too childish to admit he was wrong. For of course he is childish, when he'd rather be a "mama's boy" than stand on his feet and be your husband. And perhaps if you were big enough to be the one to end this silly business of not speaking to each other and suggested that the two of you go far enough away so that his mother couldn't interfere with you, and see if you couldn't make a go of your marriage, he'd be only too glad to respond. Wouldn't it be worth a try at least?

Three Building Permits Are Granted Here

Three building permits have been granted in the city engineer's office here.

John Redhead secured a permit to construct a two-room addition to a house at 301 Massachusetts avenue, at an estimated cost of $1,000. The one-story addition, to measure 16 by 32 feet, will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls and a shingle roof. Work will be done by the owner.

William A. Lindner, 427 Goethe street, secured a permit to remodel a one-story concrete block garage at 18 Schiller terrace for use as an apartment. Work, which will be done by the owner, is estimated to cost $300.

A building permit was secured by Lee Marple to reconstruct the present front of a building at 234-236 North Centre street by using glass [illegible] and plate glass. The three-story brick building is used as a storeroom. Work will be done by Walter Hughes and will cost an estimated $1,000.

Odd Fellows Hold Two-day Meeting At Keyser Temple

Anniversary of Founding of Order in America Noted by Three Lodges

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., April 30 — Odd Fellowship in Keyser celebrated the founding of the order in America with a two-day program Sunday and Monday. Queen's Point lodge, Mount Olive Rebekah lodge and Nancy Hanks encampment took part.

Seventy-eight members of the several lodges attended divine worship at Grace Methodist church Sunday. For that service a musical program was presented by the junior choir of the church and the Triple-Trio of the Keyser high school. The Rev. H. S. Myerly, pastor of the church, delivered a sermon on "Friendship," which is represented by the first of the three links of Odd Fellowship.

The celebration proper was held Monday evening in the IOOF temple. Preceding the set program, 100 members on the order and their guests enjoyed a covered dish supper, served by the ladies of the Rebekah lodge. W. B. Kesner, past noble grand of Queens Point lodge, acted as toastmaster.

Instead of the usual saying of grace by an individual, the group sang the "Doxology". Following the meal the group sang an original anniversary ode, followed by greetings from Blake S. Oss, noble grand, Queens Point lodge; Mrs. Mae Gift, noble grand, Mount Olive Rebekah lodge; V. Brown Kooken, chief patriarch, Nancy Hanks encampment; and Eearl Hawk, noble grand, Philos lodge.

The anniversary meditation, "Odd Fellowship in Review," was given by Luke McDowell, secretary of Queens Point lodge since 1920. In this review Odd Fellowship was traced through legend and story to the remotest times. The written authentic history of the order since the early years of the eighteenth century, with the founding of the order in America, April 26, 1819, when Thomas Wildey and his associates organized Washington Lodge No. 1, in the city of Baltimore, and the growth of the order since that time, were given in review.

The program closed with group singing of another original number, "The Tie of Odd Fellowship," followed by the benediction by the Rev. O. H. Dorsey.

Following the supper the regular meeting of Queens Point lodge was held, at which plans were completed for the instruction of a class in the initiatory degree next Monday evening, May 6.

Octopus Argument Breaks Out in New Spot

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 30 (AP)—The argument over whether an octopus can live in fresh water broke out in a new spot today.

Two small boys on a fishing trip to Cheat lake brought home three squid, members of the same family of salt water creatures, and this started a discussion along the lines that developed last winter when octopi were reported near Thomas in Tucker county.

As in the octopus case, zoology officials at West Virginia university declared it absolutely impossible for squid to live in fresh water.

Professors theorized that someone in the vicinity of Cheat lake threw surplus squid into the water.

How do they answer the claims of Fishermen Dick Bankhead and Billy Besley, each 12 years of age, that the squid attached themselves to the fishing worms on their hooks?

Zoologists said cups on the tentacles retain their adhesive properties long after the squid is dead.

Myerly, pastor of the church, delivered a sermon on "Friendship," which is represented by the first of the three links of Odd Fellowship.

Garrett Farmers Hold Meeting

One hundred twenty-five Garrett county farmers attended a farm meeting called by County Agent John Carter Monday night at the Grantsville high school for the purpose of organizing a Dairy Herd and Improvement Association in the county.

Carter, in a short address, spoke on the advantages of such an organization and showed slides with statistical information showing the advantages of keeping records on herds.

Merrill Garlitz, vocational agriculture teacher at Grantsville, gave a talk on the importance of keeping records and how to organize a dairy association. Garlitz then called on two of his students, Edwin Matthews, who showed the records he had kept on two cows, and Idell Minnick, who spoke on the duties of a dairy herd inspector.

P. H. Sprenkle, a representative of the Purina Mills, showed a motion picture entitled "Science of Milk Production", which film was made by Dr. Howard Peterson, of the University of Minnesota. The film dealt with how a cow makes and produces milk and the information illustrated required years of research.

The film was shown Monday five different times to a total of 602 people in Garrett county. Showing were at Grantsville high school students, Accident, and at Grantsville again Monday night.

Octopus Argument Breaks Out in New Spot

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 30 (AP)—The argument over whether an octopus can live in fresh water broke out in a new spot today.

Two small boys on a fishing trip to Cheat lake brought home three squid, members of the same family of salt water creatures, and this started a discussion along the lines that developed last winter when octopi were reported near Thomas in Tucker county.

As in the octopus case, zoology officials at West Virginia university declared it absolutely impossible for squid to live in fresh water.

Professors theorized that someone in the vicinity of Cheat lake threw surplus squid into the water.

How do they answer the claims of Fishermen Dick Bankhead and Billy Besley, each 12 years of age, that the squid attached themselves to the fishing worms on their hooks?

Zoologists said cups on the tentacles retain their adhesive properties long after the squid is dead.

War Ballots Group Sets Up New Rules

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30 (AP)—The Maryland War Ballots Commission set up new rules on the weight of service and application forms for the June 24 primary election.

Because of the large ballot this year, the commission increased the permitted weight of ballot and instructions from a fraction of an ounce to a full ounce. Air mail franking privilege is granted for the ballots by the federal government.

The commission decided that three types of ballot applications would be honored if correctly filed: The state application available through all supervisors of election; the old federal application and a new federal alternative form, both obtainable through armed service commanders.

After the session, Gov. O'Conor urged that all relatives and friends of persons in the armed forces see that ballot requests were properly applied for.

"I consider that of all eligible voters, our citizens in the armed forces are certainly entitled to vote in the primary election, and I hope that all Marylanders may have this opportunity," he declared.

Requests for ballots are to be made to election supervisors. The ballots themselves will be valid if properly marked and they arrive by poll closing hours June 24.

Six Slot Machines Will Be Returned, Keegan Declares

Six slot machines seized by police in raids on the homes of two veterans' organizations in the past three months will be returned, William V. Keegan, commissioner of police and fire, has announced.

A ruling by Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish, of the Fourth judicial circuit, that the city has no authority to confiscate machines taken from the home of Cumberland Lodge, No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles and that they must be returned apparently leaves the city with no alternative, Keegan said.

Three machines were taken from the home of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Greene street, and three were taken from the home of Fulton Myers, American Legion, North Mechanic street.

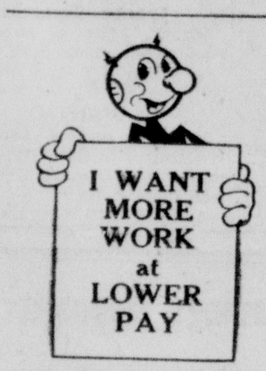
THE POTOMAC EDISON COMPANY

ELECTRIC RATES REDUCED AGAIN

RURAL EXTENSION MINIMUM CUT TO $6 PER MILE

To rural dwellers the new rate reduction will be doubly welcome for, in addition to reduced rates for electricity, it cuts the monthly minimum charge for rural extensions from $12 to $6 per mile. This $6 monthly minimum charge may be divided among all users on a mile of line in any desired way except that no individual minimum may be less than the Standard Rural Rate Minimum of $1 per month. The new minimum, of course, applies to lines already in service as well as to new construction.

These reductions in rural customer costs are being made in spite of the fact that the electric company is already building lines just as rapidly as the availability of manpower and materials permits. More than 500 miles of line were built in 1945 and the 1946 total is expected to materially exceed that figure. It is the Company's intention to make electric servic available within the near future to at least 90% of the farms in the territory it serves.

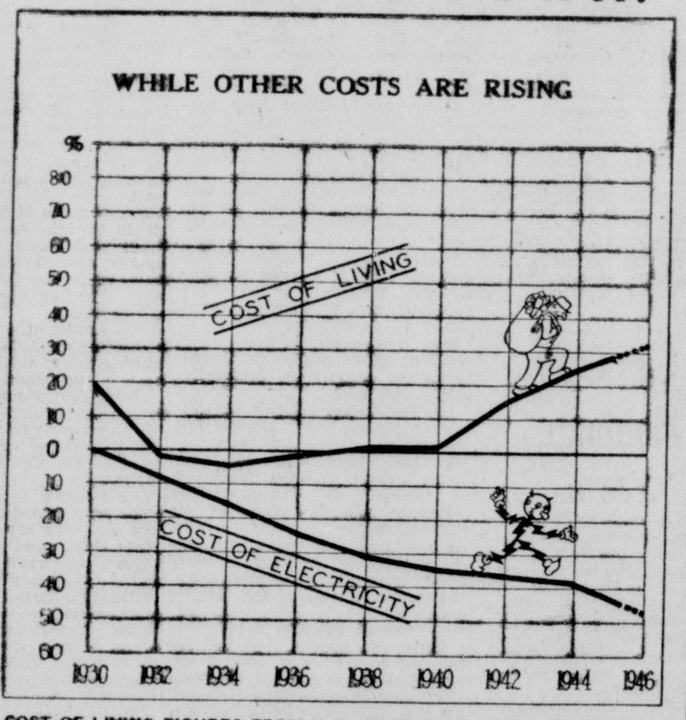


ELECTRIC RATE TRENDS CONTRARY TO LIVING COSTS

In further reducing the cost of electricity to its customers, your electric company is taking a course which is completely contrary to all present day trends. While the cost of practically all other items is rising sharply, electricity continues along the downward path that has seen its average cost cut almost in half in the last fifteen years.

This desirable accomplishment has been brought about only by constant improvement in efficiency of operations and sound business management coupled with the increasing use of electricity by consumers.

STILL GOING DOWN!



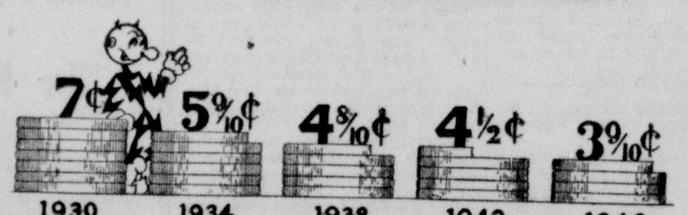
COST OF LIVING FIGURES FROM U. S. BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

NEW RATE REDUCTION IS SIXTH SINCE 1930

The present rate cut is the latest in a long series that has brought six reductions in the cost of your electricity in the short period since 1930. As can be seen from the above chart the trend of electric costs has been consistently downward and that trend goes back many years beyond 1930.

Even during the war years, when the uncertainty of conditions made any rate reductions impractical, that downward trend continued at a slower pace due to increasing use on the lower steps of the rates. Now with this most recent rate cut the line again dips sharply down—a welcome change in the parade of rising prices for just about everything else that goes into the cost of living.

HOW THE AVERAGE COST OF A RESIDENTIAL KILOWATT HOUR HAS COME DOWN



NEW RATES TO APPLY TO BILLS AFTER MAY 1

The new reduced rates for electricity will apply to all bills covering meter readings made on or after May 1. Customer savings under these new rates will, of course, vary considerably depending on the amount of electricity consumed, the type of use and the rate schedule applying, but in almost every case there will be definite benefits. Any office of your electric company will be glad to answer any questions you may have in connection with the new rates.

RATES HAVE ALSO BEEN SIMPLIFIED

Another welcome feature of the present rate reduction is a simplification of the rate schedules themselves. A number of old rates have been eliminated entirely and the new rates so arranged as to be easily understood and applied.

STREET LIGHTING RATE CUT WILL BENEFIT TAXPAYERS

Indirect benefits will come to all taxpayers in the reduction of rates for electricity sold to municipalities for street lighting purposes. New rates for this type of service will also apply to bills based on meter readings made on or after May 1.

NEW APPLIANCES SOON AVAILABLE

The new lower rates will come as good news to prospective purchasers of the new electric appliances for it will mean lower cost of operation. While appliances are as yet far from plentiful they are beginning to be available in quantities which indicate that the shortage will not last much longer.

Green Spring Workers Will Consider Wage Offer Friday Evening

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, said last evening that workers of the Koppers Company's Green Spring, W. Va., tie treating plant will meet Friday evening so that members of the union may give further consideration to a company offer of a wage increase.

The company last week offered a 14.1 per cent wage boost for the 120 workers of the plant but a union official predicted the union will reject the offer unless the company agrees to a re-opening of the wage clause in ninety days.

The increase was broken down as twelve, thirteen and sixteen cent increases for groups of workers at the plant.

Local Recruiter Attends Classification School; Two Men Enlist

Sgt. Malcolm D. MacDonald, of the local army recruiting station left yesterday for Baltimore, where he will attend a psychological testing school. He expects to acquire a working knowledge of procedure and method desired in giving the new type classification tests required of all men enlisting or re-enlisting in the army.

Upon completion of the training, Sgt. MacDonald will be assigned to Keyser, W. Va., where he will continue to enlist men from Keyser, Piedmont, Westernport and Lonaconing.

Two 17-year-old youths enlisted in the Army here yesterday and were sent to Baltimore to take their physical examinations, according to Capt. Nathan S. P. Stitt, officer in charge.

They are James H. Ruffo, of 38 Broadway, Frostburg, and Donald M. Kennedy, of Corriganville. Ruffo and Kennedy enlisted for 18 months in the Regular Army.

Green Spring Workers Will Consider Wage Offer Friday Evening

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, said last evening that workers of the Koppers Company's Green Spring, W. Va., tie treating plant will meet Friday evening so that members of the union may give further consideration to a company offer of a wage increase.

The company last week offered a 14.1 per cent wage boost for the 120 workers of the plant but a union official predicted the union will reject the offer unless the company agrees to a re-opening of the wage clause in ninety days.

The increase was broken down as twelve, thirteen and sixteen cent increases for groups of workers at the plant.

LISTEN WORLD

By ELSIE ROBINSON
(Registered U.S. Patent Office)

YOUR MANY SELVES

Why did you fly into that unreasonable rage yesterday—you who are usually so self-controlled?

Why do you have those melancholy times when there's no real cause to grieve?

Then, like as not, you'll go silly, laughing like an idot, clowning around with people you never notice normally. Or you'll sulk though you hate sulkers and sink into black spells when you despise them in everyone else.

These moods, you say aren't like you. They're foreign to your nature, You resent them. You hate to be at the mercy of such changeable feelings. You want to be calm, dependable, always the same. Instead, you're like a whole menagerie!

What's the answer? You've guessed it already. You are a whole menagerie!

That dream of being a calm, equable individual is very delightful, but it's just a dream. No red blooded human being is built that way. No one is a single, admirable unit. We are all menageries—many different, alien natures housed in one skin. Joshua Loth Liebman expresses that truth strongly in his notable new book, "Peace of Mind" (Simon and Schuster, Publishers). He says:

"Man is not a single self. He carries within him many selves—a happy self, a frightened self, an angry self. Man is like an omnibus with many little egos jostling each other as the vehicle of life hurtles down the hig' way . . . . man is composite of many organs and many instincts. If we wish to achieve a good life we shall have to arrange for a democracy among our desires and interests rather than a tyranny of one over the others."

There's the solution to many a personal problem. As children we are told that we must control ourselves. Thereafter we spend a tremendous amount of time and energy repressing our warring tendencies or trying to express one mood which we consider worthy. But it's a hopeless job. If we do finally achieve a seeming sameness on the surface, that sameness is only skin deep. Inwardly our many different selves rage and sulk, whine and fret and sooner or later blow the lid in some unexpected demonstration.

Why do so many ultra conservative people commit amazing blunders or crimes? That's why. They've tried too long and too hard to be one self instead of following nature's plan and being many selves.

Don't try to live one mood. Accept all your moods even the ones that deem dangerous. Control them if necessary but give each one a healthy place in your program. Be a little sad if you feel like it. Be ocasionally mad. Run some risks—make some experiments—even if you fear they are taboo. Go on some adventures. You will be infinitely richer, wiser and more colorful and infinitely less boring to yourself as well as to your neighbors.

DON'T BE JUST ONE SELF. BE ALL YOUR SELVES. THERE'S ROOM IN LIFE FOR THE WHOLE MENAGERIE FROM MONKEY TO WISE OLD OWL.

Five Knockouts Mark Pro Fights at Armory

Carrero Stops Sheppard, Richards Kayoes Hughes

Booth, Testa, Torchy Flatten Opponents; 703 Pay $1,753 To See Brief Card Here

A new record for local boxing was established last night at the state armory when every one of the five bouts on Matchmaker "Vic" Ricker's card ended via the knockout route in a show that lasted exactly one hour and thirteen minutes.

A gathering of 703 cash customers paid a gross of $1,753, which includes taxes, and a net of $1,575 to witness what is believed to be the shortest professional fight show ever presented here. The show started at 8:06 p. m. and ended at 9:18 p. m.

The longest fight on the card lasted four rounds, one minute and 35 seconds and the briefest was concluded in two minutes and nine seconds of milling in the opening heat.

Carrero Stops Sheppard

In the feature go, scheduled for ten rounds, Juan Carrero, Puerto Rican 138-pounder, fighting out of New York, belted out the veteran Lee Sheppard, 140, of Cleveland, in 1:20 of the third stanza. Carrero was out in front when he delivered the knockout drops to the Ohioan, a series of well-timed rights and lefts to the head and body driving Sheppard between the lower and middle ropes to the apron of the ring. Lee managed to roll back within the ropes on the floor of the ring where he was counted out by Referee "Buddy" McQuade, of Baltimore, who made his debut here.

The fast punching Carrero started out early in the first round by driving Sheppard across the ring with a right uppercut to the chin. In the second round the Ohioan lost his balance and went down for no count and later in the same stanza a terrific right to the mid-section caused Sheppard to sag in almost a kneeling position but he refused to go down.

Richards Flattens Hughes

Jimmy Richards, the New York light-heavyweight, who came here as a substitute for Warren Peterson, who suffered a hand injury in training, lived up to advance notices when he flattened Ira Hughes, the veteran 169-pounder of Pittsburgh, 59 seconds after the third round got under way.

These two Negroes put on a hammer-and-tongs affair and Richards registered his first knockdown in the second when he tagged Hughes with a short right to the whiskers. Richards, as quick as a cat, finished off his opponent in the succeeding round, driving Hughes across the ring with short rights to the head and body, and finally putting him down for the count. Hughes bounded off the ropes with terrific force and fell flat on his back while Referee McQuade tolled off the fatal "ten."

The show opened with Young Torchy, Morgantown, W. Va., 168-pounder, knocking out Joey Ford, Hagerstown 165-pounder, in 2:30 of the second round. Ford went down under a barrage of rights and lefts to the head and was counted out by Referee James E. Kelley, Jr., while lying face downward on the canvas.

Booth Flattens Kirk

Johnny Kirk, one-time boxer of Barton, surprised by battling Johnny Booth, the Eckhart slugger, on even terms for four rounds, then fell victim to a hard right to the stomach. He was knocked out in the fifth and final round in the longest match on the program. Kirk went down in a clinch and was writhing in pain as Referee Kelley counted to ten. Kirk seemed to have the edge in the second and third rounds and Booth won the first and fourth rounds. Booth fell down several times when he missed wild swings and he suffered a cut on his right eyelid from one of Kirk's left jabs in the second round. Kirk was floored for a no count in the fifth prior to being on the receiving end of the knockout punch.

In the third match on the card, Joe Testa, 155, Morgantown, W. Va., stopped the youthful and inexperienced Tommy Hare, 152, Meyersdale, Pa., in two minutes and nine seconds. Hare never had a chance and went down under a flurry of blows to the head. Referee McQuade counted him out after he had hit the floor face downward.

Pay Respects to Brockman

Preceding the main bout, the audience paid its last respects to Ed Brockman, of Baltimore, well known boxing referee, who died Sunday, by standing while Official Timer "Bobby" Cavanaugh struck the gong for the count of ten. Brockman refereed the first pro show of the season here in March.

Kelley refereed the first two matches while McQuade worked the last three. The judges—Harry Nelson and Howard "Red" Bush — were there but their slips were not necessary. Sammy Cozad was the announcer.

Fight Results

Young Torchy, 168, Morgantown, W. Va., knocked out Joey Ford, 165, Hagerstown, in 2 minutes, 31 seconds of second round of scheduled four round bout.

Johnny Booth, 140, Eckhart, knocked out John Kirk, 140, Barton, in one minute, 35 seconds of fifth and final round.

Joe Testa, 152, Morgantown, W. Va., knocked out Tommy Hare, 152, Meyersdale, Pa., in 2 minutes, 9 seconds of first round of scheduled six round bout.

Jimmy Richards, 170, New York, knocked out Ira Hughes, 169, Pittsburgh, in 59 seconds of third round of scheduled eight round semi-final.

Juan Carrero, 138, New York, knocked out Lee Sheppard, 140, Cleveland, in 1 minute, 21 seconds of third round of scheduled ten round main bout.

Brother Matthew Is Injured when Struck On Jaw by Foul Ball

Struck by a foul ball during yesterday's game at Community Park between LaSalle and Paw Paw, Brother Matthew, moderator of LaSalle high school's baseball team, suffered a possible fracture of the jaw, and is now at Allegany hospital where the injury will be X-rayed this morning.

According to eye witnesses, Brother Matthew had been conversing with Coach George Geatz at third base and was on his way to the LaSalle dugout when the accident occurred. When Brother Matthew reached a point back of the plate a foul from the bat of Deffenbaugh, LaSalle player, struck him on the jaw. He was immediately taken to the hospital.

Pittsburgh Wins Over Phillies By 4 to 1 Score

Pirates Break 1-1 Tie in Eighth on Error by Tommy Hughes

PITTSBURGH, April 30 (AP) — Tommy Hughes made a wild throw of Frankie Gustine's bunt with two men on in the eighth inning today, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates enough runs to break a 1-1 tie and move them on to a 4 to 1 victory over the Phils before 4,970 fans.

Ken Gables, who held the Phils to one run and four hits in seven innings, retired for a pinch-hitter and Jack Hallett finished up as the winning pitcher. The victory snapped a three-game Buc losing streak.

CUBS BEAT DODGERS

CHICAGO, April 30 (AP) — Chicago's brilliant relief pitcher, Emil Kush, stole the show from Brooklyn's Ed (no-hit) Head as the Cubs grabbed an eleven-inning, 2-1, decision from the Dodgers before 19,984 cash patrons in the opener of a three-game series today.

The Cubs tied the count at 1-1 with two out in the ninth on pinch-hitter Heinz Becker's single which scored Eddie Waitkus, who tallied both Cub runs.

The defeat dropped the Dodgers into second place, a half-game behind the St. Louis Cards, who were rained out today.

Head, who hurled a no-hit game against Boston exactly a week ago in his first start, was touched for nine hits in the nine innings he worked.

Hurls No-Hit Contest

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—Earl Harrist, 25-year old Syracuse pitcher, hurled the first no-hit, no-run game of the 1946 International league season today as the Chiefs whipped the Buffalo Bisons, 5-0.

Bob Feller Pitches No-Hit, No Run Game against Yanks

Cleveland Ace Fans Eleven Batters in Hurling Second No-hitter of His Career in Majors

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Rapid Robert Feller, out to show the New York Yankees he isn't "slipping," hurled a no-hit, no-run game today before 37,144 Yankee stadium fans as Cleveland blanked the Yanks 1-0 on Catcher Frank Hayes's ninth inning home run.

The 26-year-old righthander from Van Meter, Iowa, struck out eleven yanks and walked five men. Only six men reached first base.

In the ninth inning the Yanks staged their only threat as George Stirnweiss had a life on Les Fleming's error of his bunt. Tommy Henrich sacrificed him to second and he moved to third on Joe DiMaggio's infield out. But Feller made Charley Keller ground out to second base to end the game.

Hayes Belts Homer

Feller and Floyd Bevens of the Yanks had hooked up in a beautiful scoreless duel for eight frames. Hayes drove one of Bevens's pitches into the lower seats of the left field pavilion for his first homer of the season.

The fireball artist walked one man in each of the first four innings, passing Henrich in the first with two out, Keller in the second, Bill Dickey in the third and Henrich again in the fourth. Henrich stole second in the fourth and died there.

Phil Rizzuto led off the sixth with a base on balls and moved to second on Stirnweiss's sacrifice but never advanced further. Stirnweiss, in the ninth, was the only Yankee to reach third and only two others got as far as second.

Every man in the Yank lineup except Henrich and DiMaggio were strikeout victims and Nick Etten and Bevens were three-time victims.

It was the second no-hitter of the major league season as Ed Head of Brooklyn had turned back Boston without a safety just a week ago.

Boosts Strikeouts to 39

Feller had thrown one previous no-hitter in 1940 when he beat Chicago, 1-0, on opening day. The last previous hitless job in the American was hurled by Dick Fowler of the Philadelphia Athletics last September 9 against the St. Louis Browns.

The eleven strikeouts boosted Feller's 1946 total to thirty-nine and evened his season record at two wins and two losses.

It was the first time the Yankees had been held without a hit since September 10, 1919 when Ray Caldwell of Cleveland did the trick, 3-0, in the first game of a doubleheader.

BOSTON BEATS DETROIT

BOSTON, April 30—(AP)—With righthander Joe Dobson turning in his third straight win with a three-hitter, the Boston Red Sox today opened their western competition by shutting out the world championship Detroit Tigers, 4-0, before an 18,877 paid crowd.

While vying with Hal Newhouser, the Bostor flinger got timely hitting from his teammates, including an eighth inning homer by Bobby Doerr. Each pitcher had nine strikeouts while issuing three bases on balls but Newhouser presented the sockers with their first run with a wild pitch.

After being greeted with a single by leadoff Eddie Lake, Dobson did not give the Tigers another hit until he had two out in the ninth. Hank Greenberg slashed a double off the left field fence but, after Dick Wakefield beat out an infield roller, Dobson ended the game by forcing Pat Mullin to ground out.

SENATORS DOWN CHICAGO

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Buddy Lewis' only hit today was a seventh inning double but it drove in the run that gave the Washington Senators a 3-2 victory over Chicago's White Sox.

With the score standing two-all, Al Evans opened Washington's seventh with a single. Ray Scarborough sacrificed and Lewis doubled down the right foul line.

The victory was Scarborough's second of the season and lifted Washington into a tie with Chicago for sixth place.

Five Knockouts Mark Pro Fights at Armory

Carrero Stops Sheppard, Richards Kayoes Hughes

Booth, Testa, Torchy Flatten Opponents; 703 Pay $1,753 To See Brief Card Here

A new record for local boxing was established last night at the state armory when every one of the five bouts on Matchmaker "Vic" Ricker's card ended via the knockout route in a show that lasted exactly one hour and thirteen minutes.

A gathering of 703 cash customers paid a gross of $1,753, which includes taxes, and a net of $1,575 to witness what is believed to be the shortest professional fight show ever presented here. The show started at 8:06 p. m. and ended at 9:18 p. m.

The longest fight on the card lasted four rounds, one minute and 35 seconds and the briefest was concluded in two minutes and nine seconds of milling in the opening heat.

Carrero Stops Sheppard

In the feature go, scheduled for ten rounds, Juan Carrero, Puerto Rican 138-pounder, fighting out of New York, belted out the veteran Lee Sheppard, 140, of Cleveland, in 1:30 of the third stanza. Carrero was out in front when he delivered the knockout drops to the Ohioan, a series of well-timed rights and lefts to the head and body driving Sheppard between the lower and middle ropes to the apron of the ring. Lee managed to roll back within the ropes on the floor of the ring where he was counted out by Referee "Buddy" McQuade, of Baltimore, who made his debut here.

The fast punching Carrero started out early in the first round by driving Sheppard across the ring with a right uppercut to the chin. In the second round the Ohioan lost his balance and went down for no count and later in the same stanza a terrific right to the mid-section caused Sheppard to sag in almost a kneeling position but he refused to go down.

Richards Flattens Hughes

Jimmy Richards, the New York light-heavyweight, who came here as a substitute for Warren Peterson, who suffered a hand injury in training, lived up to advance notices when he flattened Ira Hughes, the veteran 169-pounder of Pittsburgh, 59 seconds after the third round got under way.

These two Negroes put on a hammer-and-tongs affair and Richards registered his first knockdown in the second when he tagged Hughes with a short right to the whiskers. Richards, as quick as a cat, finished off his opponent in the succeeding round, driving Hughes across the ring with short rights to the head and body, and finally putting him down for the count. Hughes bounded off the ropes with terrific force and fell flat on his back while Referee McQuade tolled off the fatal "ten."

The show opened with Young Torchy, Morgantown, W. Va., 168-pounder, knocking out Joey Ford, Hagerstown 165-pounder, in 2:30 of the second round. Ford went down under a barrage of rights and lefts to the head and was counted out by Referee James E. Kelley, Jr., while lying face downward on the canvas.

Booth Flattens Kirk

Johnny Kirk, one-time boxer of Barton, surprised by battling Johnny Booth, the Eckhart slugger, on even terms for four rounds, then fell victim to a hard right to the stomach. He was knocked out in the fifth and final round in the longest match on the program. Kirk went down in a clinch and was writhing in pain as Referee Kelley counted to ten. Kirk seemed to have the edge in the second and third rounds and Booth won the first and fourth rounds. Booth fell down several times when he missed wild swings and he suffered a cut on his right eyelid from one of Kirk's left jabs in the second round. Kirk was floored for a no count in the fifth prior to being on the receiving end of the knockout punch.

In the third match on the card, Joe Testa, 155, Morgantown, W. Va., stopped the youthful and inexperienced Tommy Hare, 152, Meyersdale, Pa., in two minutes and nine seconds. Hare never had a chance and went down under a flurry of blows to the head. Referee McQuade counted him out after he had hit the floor face downward.

Pay Respects to Brockman

Preceding the main bout, the audience paid its last respects to Ed Brockman, of Baltimore, well known boxing referee, who died Sunday, by standing while Official Timer "Bobby" Cavanaugh struck the gong for the count of ten. Brockman refereed the first pro show of the season here in March.

Kelley refereed the first two matches while McQuade worked the last three. The judges—Harry Nelson and Howard "Red" Bush — were there but their slips were not necessary. Sammy Cozad was the announcer.

Brother Matthew Is Injured when Struck On Jaw by Foul Ball

Struck by a foul ball during yesterday's game at Community Park between LaSalle and Paw Paw, Brother Matthew, moderator of LaSalle high school's baseball team, suffered a possible fracture of the jaw, and is now at Allegany hospital where the injury will be X-rayed this morning.

According to eye witnesses, Brother Matthew had been conversing with Coach George Geatz at third base and was on his way to the LaSalle dugout when the accident occurred. When Brother Matthew reached a point back of the plate a foul from the bat of Deffenbaugh, LaSalle player, struck him on the jaw. He was immediately taken to the hospital.

Pirates Break 1-1 Tie in Eighth on Error by Tommy Hughes

PITTSBURGH, April 30 (AP) — Tommy Hughes made a wild throw of Frankie Gustine's bunt with two men on in the eighth inning today, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates enough runs to break a 1-1 tie and move them on to a 4 to 1 victory over the Phils before 4,970 fans.

Ken Gables, who held the Phils to one run and four hits in seven innings, retired for a pinch-hitter and Jack Hallett finished up as the winning pitcher. The victory snapped a three-game Buc losing streak.

CUBS BEAT DODGERS

CHICAGO, April 30 (AP) — Chicago's brilliant relief pitcher, Emil Kush, stole the show from Brooklyn's Ed (no-hit) Head as the Cubs grabbed an eleven-inning, 2-1, decision from the Dodgers before 19,984 cash patrons in the opener of a three-game series today.

The Cubs tied the count at 1-1 with two out in the ninth on pinch-hitter Heinz Becker's single which scored Eddie Waitkus, who tallied both Cub runs.

The defeat dropped the Dodgers into second place, a half-game behind the St. Louis Cards, who were rained out today.

Head, who hurled a no-hit game against Boston exactly a week ago in his first start, was touched for nine hits in the nine innings he worked.

Hurls No-Hit Contest

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—Earl Harrist, 25-year old Syracuse pitcher, hurled the first no-hit, no-run game of the 1946 International league season today as the Chiefs whipped the Buffalo Bisons 5-0.

Bob Feller Pitches No-Hit, No Run Game against Yanks

Cleveland Ace Fans Eleven Batters in Hurling Second No-hitter of His Career in Majors

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Rapid Robert Feller, out to show the New York Yankees he isn't "slipping," hurled a no-hit, no-run game today before 37,144 Yankee stadium fans as Cleveland blanked the Yanks 1-0 on Catcher Frank Hayes's ninth inning home run.

The 26-year-old righthander from Van Meter, Iowa, struck out eleven yanks and walked five men. Only six men reached first base.

In the ninth inning the Yanks staged their only threat as George Stirnweiss had a life on Les Fleming's error of his bunt. Tommy Henrich sacrificed him to second and he moved to third on Joe DiMaggio's infield out. But Feller made Charley Keller ground out to second base to end the game.

Hayes Belts Homer

Feller and Floyd Bevens of the Yanks had hooked up in a beautiful scoreless duel for eight frames. Hayes drove one of Bevens's pitches into the lower seats of the left field pavilion for his first homer of the season.

The fireball artist walked one man in each of the first four innings, passing Henrich in the first with two out, Keller in the second, Bill Dickey in the third and Henrich again in the fourth. Henrich stole second in the fourth and died there.

Phil Rizzuto led off the sixth with a base on balls and moved to second on Stirnweiss's sacrifice but never advanced further. Stirnweiss, in the ninth, was the only Yankee to reach third and only two others got as far as second.

Every man in the Yank lineup except Henrich and DiMaggio were strikeout victims and Nick Etten and Bevens were three-time victims.

It was the second no-hitter of the major league season as Ed Head of Brooklyn had turned back Boston without a safety just a week ago.

Boosts Strikeouts to 39

Feller had thrown one previous no-hitter in 1940 when he beat Chicago, 1-0, on opening day. The last previous hitless job in the American was hurled by Dick Fowler of the Philadelphia Athletics last September 9 against the St. Louis Browns.

The eleven strikeouts boosted Feller's 1946 total to thirty-nine and evened his season record at two wins and two losses.

It was the first time the Yankees had been held without a hit since September 10, 1919 when Ray Caldwell of Cleveland did the trick, 3-0, in the first game of a doubleheader.

BOSTON BEATS DETROIT

BOSTON, April 30—(AP)—With righthander Joe Dobson turning in his third straight win with a three-hitter, the Boston Red Sox today opened their western competition by shutting out the world championship Detroit Tigers, 4-0, before an 18,877 paid crowd.

While vying with Hal Newhouser, the Bostor flinger got timely hitting from his teammates, including an eighth inning homer by Bobby Doerr. Each pitcher had nine strikeouts while issuing three bases on balls but Newhouser presented the sockers with their first run with a wild pitch.

After being greeted with a single by leadoff Eddie Lake, Dobson did not give the Tigers another hit until he had two out in the ninth. Hank Greenberg slashed a double off the left field fence but, after Dick Wakefield beat out an infield roller, Dobson ended the game by forcing Pat Mullin to ground out.

SENATORS DOWN CHICAGO

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Buddy Lewis' only hit today was a seventh inning double but it drove in the run that gave the Washington Senators a 3-2 victory over Chicago's White Sox.

With the score standing two-all, Al Evans opened Washington's seventh with a single. Ray Scarborough sacrificed and Lewis doubled down the right foul line.

The victory was Scarborough's second of the season and lifted Washington into a tie with Chicago for sixth place.

Allegany high school's baseball team scored its second straight victory of the season in the Tri-State Conference yesterday by crushing Paw Paw high's Mountaineers on the latter's field to the tune of 31 to 0.

LaSalle, behind the four-hit pitching of Lefty Pat Creegan, defeated Hyndman (Pa.) high at Community Park by the score of 5 to 2.

In chalking up the most one-sided victory of the season in the six-team circuit, Allegany belted three Paw Paw pitchers for a total of thirty hits, including twelve doubles and a four base swat by Jimmy Lease. Coach Radcliffe's boys also pilfered twelve bases.

Roy Perrell pitched the first four innings and yielded four hits and fanned five while Jamison twirled three frames, turning in a no-run, no-hit performance and struck out six.

Wertz got three doubles and two singles to head the AHS assault while Jimmy Lease and Tommy Powers garnered four hits each.

Cheegan whiffed an even dozen as LaSalle took the measure of Hyndman. A four-run rally in the fourth decided this contest. The rally was marked by hits by Esposito, Steiner, Genevie, Deffenbaugh and Creegan. LaSalle gathered ten hits off the slants of Waltman, Deffenbaugh pacing the attack with three blows while Collins and Steiner got two each. Waltman struck out eleven. The scores:

Crosby Brothers Will Be in Same Radio Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP) — The two Bobs—Crosby and Hope—are broadcasting together again Wednesday night. It is a sort of a return engagement, for they also were on the air schedule for a Tuesday night story.

Actually it is a return visit, for Crosby appeared with Hope on NBC in the latter's regular time, Hope now paying back the call by going into Crosby's CBS production for half an hour. Air time is 8:30.

Eddie Cantor announces that his NBC program at 8 will, in co-operation with the National Safety Council, start a national safety contest. Announcement of the winner is to come June 19.

Chester A. Bowles, head of the Office of Economic Stabilization, is scheduled for the second of three MBS broadcasts at 9:30. His topic this time is "The Fight To Keep Your Cost of Living Down." The talks, it was stated, were in reply to some of Fulton Lewis, Jr.'s commentary on OPA.

Title of the Sammy Kaye program on ABC at 8:30 is changing from "So You Want to Lead a Band," to just plain "Sammy Kaye Program." . . . Joan Edwards, Hit Parade singer, is to be a guest of Ellery Queen in his CBS detective series at 6:30. The script deals with "The Adventure of the Rhubarb Solution."

With the advent of daylight savings, NBC and CBS report that they have added an hour of music and dance tunes to the late night schedule, which will keep them on the air until 12 midnight, Standard time instead of an 11 o'clock signoff.

The Radio Clock

WEDNESDAY, MAY 1

Changes in programs as listed are due to corrections by networks made too late to incorporate.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS NOTE—All times PM eastern standard. To change to eastern daylight, add one hour; central daylight same as eastern standard. On the other hand, for central standard subtract one hour; for mountain standard subtract two hours.

Crosby Brothers Will Be in Same Radio Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP) — The two Bobs—Crosby and Hope—are broadcasting together again Wednesday night. It is a sort of a return engagement, for they also were on the air schedule for a Tuesday night story.

Actually it is a return visit, for Crosby appeared with Hope on NBC in the latter's regular time, Hope now paying back the call by going into Crosby's CBS production for half an hour. Air time is 8:30.

Eddie Cantor announces that his NBC program at 8 will, in co-operation with the National Safety Council, start a national safety contest. Announcement of the winner is to come June 19.

Chester A. Bowles, head of the Office of Economic Stabilization, is scheduled for the second of three MBS broadcasts at 9:30. His topic this time is "The Fight To Keep Your Cost of Living Down." The talks, it was stated, were in reply to some of Fulton Lewis, Jr.'s commentary on OPA.

Title of the Sammy Kaye program on ABC at 8:30 is changing from "So You Want to Lead a Band," to just plain "Sammy Kaye Program." . . . Joan Edwards, Hit Parade singer, is to be a guest of Ellery Queen in his CBS detective series at 6:30. The script deals with "The Adventure of the Rhubarb Solution."

With the advent of daylight savings, NBC and CBS report that they have added an hour of music and dance tunes to the late night schedule, which will keep them on the air until 12 midnight, Standard time instead of an 11 o'clock signoff.

The Radio Clock

WEDNESDAY, MAY 1

Thanges in programs as listed are due to corrections by networks made too late to incorporate.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS NOTE—All times PM eastern standard. To change to eastern daylight, add one hour; central daylight same as eastern standard. On the other hand, for central standard subtract one hour; for mountain standard subtract two hours.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Anna B. Skelly, who died six years ago today, May 1, 1940.

Your memory is as dear today
As in the hour you passed away.
To have, to hold and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of my heart.

You had a smile for everyone,
A heart as pure as gold,
To all who knew and loved you,
Your memory will never grow old.

Although your soul is now at rest,
And free from care and pain,
This world would seem like Heaven
If I had you back again.

Sadly missed by,
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Anna B. Skelly, who died six years ago today, May 1, 1940.

Your memory is as dear today
As in the hour you passed away.
To have, to hold and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of my heart.

You had a smile for everyone,
A heart as pure as gold,
To all who knew and loved you,
Your memory will never grow old.

Although your soul is now at rest,
And free from care and pain,
This world would seem like Heaven
If I had you back again.

Sadly missed by,
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

Hougardy Warns Against Excessive Federal Spending

Nation Owed 278 Billions as of December 31, Speaker Reports

"A nation can be destroyed just as readily by excessive taxation and governmental extravagance, as it can by armed invasion," John L. Hougardy, Baltimore, director of the Maryland Public Expenditures Council, told members of the Allegany County Taxpayers Association last night at a meeting in the city hall auditorium.

"The financial solvency of the nation is the business of every citizen whether he be rich or poor, an investor or a wage earner," the speaker declared. "Unfortunately, some people think since they are wage earners that they do not carry the burden of federal taxation," Hougardy continued. "They have the idea the landlord pays the property tax and the boss pays the federal tax. As a matter of fact, the tenant pays the bulk of the property taxes, in his rent, and in everything he buys and consumes, he pays a part of the federal tax."

Emphasizing the importance of a balanced federal budget and reduced federal spending, Hougardy told his audience that every citizen must be awakened to the fact that each time the government spends money, the individual pays the bills.

Owe 278 Billions

Referring to the national picture, he declared, "The total wealth of the nation, that is the accumulated wealth since the nation started 160 years ago, amounts to about 350 billions of dollars. This includes everything that any working man, business man or banker has accumulated. Now how much do we owe? As of December 31, we owed a total of 278 billions of dollars. And that debt is a first mortgage on every bit of wealth every citizen in the nation owns. In short, though we own 350 billions, we owe 278 billions."

"For sixteen years, the federal government has been spending more money than it took in," Hougardy explained. "Of course in wartime such a procedure is inevitable and no one can criticize it, but it is only common sense to start living within our income now that the war is over. Instead of doing this, the government proposes to spend four billion dollars more in the next fiscal year, than it can take in."

"The federal budget proposes spending thirty-five billions of dollars and provides for an income from taxation of thirty-one billions," he declared. "This deficit is not the result of setting tax rates too low," he explained, "but of spending too much."

Hougardy referred to a pamphlet, copies of which were distributed to those present, and showed how an analysis of the proposed federal budget indicates excesive spending in numerous instances.

Cites Tax Figures

The speaker referred to tax figures as they apply to Maryland people.

"Maryland's share of the veterans' cost for next year will be sixty-four million dollars. Maryland's share of interest on the federal debt will be seventy-six million dollars. Maryand's share of the proposed federal budget is 540 million dollars."

The federal budget will cost each Marylander, on a per capita basis, $270 next year, and each family in Maryland, $1,080.

"If the federal budget is reduced eleven billion dollars next year," the speaker declared, "Marylanders

Court Remands Two Wage Cases Back to Board

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper yesterday decided to remand two appeal cases from decisions of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board to the board, finding that the records in the cases were not in accord with regulations of the state agency. Following a conference with attorneys involved, it was indicated that another hearing in each case before the board will be necessary before the court can take any action in the matter.

Cases Are First Here

The appeals, unique in local court annals, were made by Mrs. Helen A. Alderton, a former employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and Mrs. Mattie M. Shoemaker, a former employe of the Celanese Corporation of America, who were denied compensation by the state board.

Mrs. Shoemaker was represented by William L. Wilson, Jr., while Paul M. Fletcher is counsel for Mrs. Alderton. The board, in denying their claims for compensation, ruled that they were not available for other employment when it was offered. This was denied by attorneys for the two women.

A. A. Levin, of Baltimore, assistant to Attorney-General William A. Curran, represented the state board in court today.

Associate Judge Capper announced the decision of the Court in remanding the cases to the board.

Driver Seeks Damages

Asking $750 damages, suit was filed yesterday in Circuit Court by Harvey Lepley against Elbert Aldridge and Harvey Hogemier, following an automobile accident last November.

Lepley, represented by Clarence Lippel, said he was driving on the Mt. Savage Road, near Corriganville, when his car crashed into a parked machine on the highway. He said the car was owned by Aldridge and had been operated by Hogemier, who parked it on the road without lights. Lepley said his machine crashed into the parked car and was considerably damaged.

Lepley was charged with operating his machine while under the influence of liquor, after a State Police investigation, but he was acquitted when his appeal case was heard during the January term of court. Lippel was his counsel in the appeal case.

MEETING IS PLANNED TO DISCUSS SCHEDULE FOR RETAIL CLERKS

An effort to reach a satisfactory agreement on a work schedule for Cumberland stores will be made at a meeting between store operators and Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, AFL, tentatively set for Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, C. E. Stutzman, president of Allegany Trades Council, announced yesterday.

Members of the union, at a meeting Monday evening, unanimously voted for a 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. schedule Monday through Friday with a 6 p. m. closing hour for Saturdays and said they would call another meeting Saturday at 6 p. m. if store operators insisted on remaining open after that hour, the union official said.

Only a few stores attempted to remain open Monday after 5 a. m. when members of the union reported to the special meeting.

William R. McGinnis, Pittsburgh, international representative of the Clerks union, is expected to attend Friday's meeting. The local asserted that if it were necessary to call a meeting Saturday it would not return to work until the issue is settled.

The schedule suggested by the union is the same as one adopted by the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce several weeks ago. Last week the group decided to open at noon Monday and remain open until 9 p. m. in order to give customers one night a week for shopping.

Annual Program For Mothers Day Planned by FOE

C. William H. Baer To Give Address; Class of Fifty To Be Initiated

The annual Mothers' day service of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, May 12, in the lodge rooms, 65 North Mechanic street, it was announced last night by Harry G. Rice, worthy president.

A group of fifty candidates, comprising the Mothers' day class, will be inducted into the lodge by the aerie officers with Rice presiding at the initiation.

Past State President C. William H. Baer, will deliver a Mothers' day address. Following the ceremony and program, which is open to members only, refreshments and entertainment are to be arranged in charge of Frank H. Schultz, chairman of the committee.

Rice said last night that the Eagles lodge was the first organization to hear about Mothers' day, and Eagles took the initiative in sponsoring local programs throughout the country long before the day was generally observed.

The first public plea for a national Mothers' day was made by the late editor of the Eagles' Magazine, Frank Hering, of South Bend, Ind., more than forty-two years ago, in an address to Indianapolis Eagles, Rice explained. After the Fraternal Order of Eagles continued to sponsor the idea, the movement culminated in the setting aside of a national day by Congress in 1914, after Miss Ann Mae Jarvis, a Philadelphia, Pa., woman urged that the date be the second Sunday in May, the anniversary of her own mother's death, and that the occasion be marked by the wearing of the white carnation, her mothers favorite flower.

On Armistice day, in 1929, the War Mothers of America, recognized the role of Frank Hering and the Eagles in popularizing Mothers' day, by presenting him with a medal upon which is inscribed "The Father of Mothers' Day".

British War Bride Of Nikep Veteran Arrives Here

Mrs. Helen Munson, and her infant child arrived here yesterday as the latest arriving British war bride, according to Mrs. Louise C. Deam, home service secretary of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross.

Mrs. Munson is the war bride of Melvin Munson, a veteran now residing at Nikep, this county. Mrs. Dean met Mrs. Munson at the Western Maryland station yesterday noon, as she arrived from Baltimore. Members of the Munson family also met the train and took the young English girl to Nikep to meet her husband.

Playground Fund Totals $2 50, Keegan Reports

Stating that contributions to the city playground fund now total $250, Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday that two more donations have been received.

Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, contributed $50, and the Wilson Hardware Company, North Mechanic street, donated $25.

Western Maryland To Furlough More Than 300 Workers

Layoffs as Result of Coal Strike Are Effective Today

Between 300 and 400 employes on the Elkins division of the Western Maryland railway will be furloughed today for an indefinite period because of the coal strike, Western Maryland officials said last night. About half the freight hauled by the line is coal from the soft coal mining regions.

William B. Lee, Elkins division engineer, estimated that between 200 and 300 employes will be furloughed from the maintenance of way department.

At the present time there are 550 employes in that department on the Elkins division, and Lee said the furlough today will take about two-fifths of his force. He said last night that he did not know the exact figures.

George R. Lyming, master mechanic of the Elkins division, said he will lose forty employes at Cumberland and about sixty at Elkins as a result of furloughs today in maintenance of equipment, shops and yards departments. There are about 530 employes in those departments on the division.

Joseph M. Miller, Elkins division superintendent, said employes were to be furloughed on the division today but that he did not know how many.

At Hagerstown, Western Maryland officials said 350 employes of that division will be furloughed today because the coal strike has cut heavily into traffic.

Heretofore, furloughing on the Elkins division has been at a minimum.

On April 16, the shops reverted to the five-day week as a direct result of the coal strike. They had been working seven days since 1941.

Rotarians Favor Daylight Saving Time for City

Rotarians yesterday heard arguments for the city manager system of municipal government and voted in favor of daylight saving time for Cumberland.

The city manager plan was discussed by Miss Greta Hearsh, of Allegany high school, and Ronald Screen, of Fort Hill high school, who presented their views on the subject recently before the Kiwanis club. They were pressed into service as pinch hitters, as the Program committee had planned to have a talk by Marion Hargrove, community forum speaker, who had to cancel his Cumberland engagement because of illness.

The high school speakers, both winners of oratorical contests, presented the various advantages of the city manager plan, holding it superior to the commission form and needed in Cumberland because of its simplicity, its unification of authority, its elimination of the spoils system, its possibility for obtaining more efficient administration and its economy possibilities.

The proposal for daylight saving time was approved in a hand vote with a majority of hands favoring it.

Garland L. Johnston, president, announced that the annual club picnic would be resumed this year after abandonment through the war and that it would be held jointly with Kiwanians May 28 at the Cumberland Country Club with golf as the big feature. He appointed a committee on arrangements comprising W. Donald Smith, chairman; John R. Wilkinson, George Schwarzenbach and Henry W. Price.

Guests at the meeting included Thomas V. Litzenburg, Charles E. Kerr, Bedford, Pa., and Michael Heiskell, Frostburg.

Celanese and Union Schedule Wage Session

Wage negotiations between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America, were resumed yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

James A. Holden, commissioner of conciliation, who attended the session, reported that "negotiations are progressing."

Union officials did not comment on the progress of the wage session yesterday but said negotiations will be resumed this afternoon at 2 o'clock and that Commissioner Holden will attend the session.

The union, which is demanding a twelve cents per hour wage increase, recently refused a company offer of a five per cent wage increase. Union officials pointed out they are opposed to a percentage increase and that the offer excluded some 1,000 members from any wage boost.

Price of Soups, Salads and Pies Increased One Cent at Celanese

The three cafeterias at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America yesterday increased the price of soups, salads and pies one cent to help bring the cafeterias out of the red.

Fred T. Small, plant manager, said yesterday that the cafeterias, non-profit concerns operated for the convenience of the employes, have been showing a yearly deficit of $70,000 for some time.

The company took up the matter with the Office of Price Administration with the result that the OPA relaxed previous restrictions to the extent that the company will be allowed to charge one cent more for all salads, soups and pies.

The OPA order, received by the company, will ease the situation in the cafeterias but still won't bring the cafeterias entirely out of the red, Small said. Computed on a yearly basis, the increase in prices for soups, salads and pies will lop off $40,000 of the deficit, leaving the cafeterias still in the red to the extent of $25,000.

The plant manager said last night that he intended to pursue the matter further and would seek another readjustment from the OPA.

Small said the company has had an increasingly difficult time in obtaining various foodstuffs, especially meats, with the result that the company is now urging employes to bring their own lunches to work wherever possible.

Prior to the war, the three cafeterias offered as many as eight entrees but this has of necessity been cut down in recent years, it was explained.

Memorial Hospital Cadet Nurses Leave for Tacoma Indian Hospital

Dorothy Crowe and Dorothy Tewell Will Study There for Six Months

Instead of giving the country back to the Indians, two Cadet nurses at the Memorial hospital School of Nursing are on their way west to take care of the Redskins.

The cadets are Miss Dorothy N. Crowe, Eckhart, and Miss Dorothy Jean Tewell, Robertsdale, Pa., who left Cumberland on the Capitol Limited last night on the first leg of their trip to the Tacoma Indian hospial, Tacoma, Wash.

Miss Crowe and Miss Tewell were members of the upper fifth of their Cadet Nursing Corps class and as a result were selected to finish their nursing training at a cadet corps affiliated hospital.

That's how they happen to be on their way to Tacoma where they will spend the next six months completing their three-year cadet corps course. Then they will return to get their diplomas from Memorial hospital.

Neither Miss Crowe nor Miss Tewell are too well acquainted with what they will encounter when they arrive at Tacoma, but said last night that all of the patients are Indians and that they are cared for by the usual hospital staff.

They will learn more about that Saturday after they arrive in Tacoma.

While they are embarking on their longest trips, neither of the young women appeared too excited about it. Miss Crowe arrived at Queen City station about fifteen minutes before train time; Miss Tewell came in about five minutes later.

All the while relatives, friends, classmates and other nurses at the hospital were arriving to bid them goodbye and wish them a happy trip.

Something Different

Miss Crowe and Miss Tewell think their experience will be "wonderful," a "new adventure" and "very interesting. At least it will be different," they said.

Miss Crowe is the daughter of Clifford N. Crowe, Eckhart, and niece of Mrs. Mary Dicken, 17 Wempe drive, with whom she resides. She is a graduate of Beall high school, Frostburg. Miss Tewell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tewell, Robertsdale, and is a graduate of Robertsdale high school.

Minstrel Frolics Are Presented Here

The Minstrel Frolics of 1946 were presented by members of SS. Peter and Paul parish and their friends, to an appreciative audience last evening in the parish hall. The production is being given for the benefit of the sisters convent building fund and will be repeated tonight and tomorrow evening. Father Fabian, O.F.M. Cap., and Leo H. Ley, Sr., are directors.

A feature of the production was an old fashioned minstrel band, with Father Frederick, O.F.M. Cap., in charge. The musical program also included several numbers by the Elks quartet, as well as solos, duets and trios.

Edward Neus served as interlocutor; Francis Bareis, Herman Grabenstein, Hugh Hopwood, Francis Collins and William Kuntz, the end men. There were also several tap and novelty dance numbers by Dorothy Rowan, Maxine Hawkins and LaVerne Wineland.

Wastepaper Drive Nets Twelve Tons

Twelve tons of wastepaper were collected here yesterday on the second day of the monthly collection, W. Donald Smith, salvage chairman, reported last night. Four tons were collected Monday in outlying sections.

The drive today will cover all streets east of Wills creek and north of Baltimore street and Baltimore

Reduced Electric Rates To Become Effective Today

New Potomac Edison Company electric rates, which provide an appreciable reduction in the monthly bills for practically all light and power customers served by the PE system, go into effect today as ordered by the Maryland Public Service Commission.

The first electric bills to reflect the rate reduction will be those calculated on meter readings made on and after May 1. Domestic, commercial, street lighting and small power customers, classed according to their use of electricity, will benefit from the reductions.

Also effective today is the revised Potomac Edison rural line extension plan which involves a reduction in the cost to the rural resident who desires electric service. Under this new plan the company will require an assured revenue per month of $6 per mile of new rural line. Customers along each mile of line may share the assured $6 and for their share receive the number of kilowatt hours of electricity provided by the rate schedule applying.

The electric rate reduction effective today is the sixth since 1930.

War Veterans Should Not Go to Extremes In Demands, Finan Says

War veterans, while they are entitled to everything promised to them, should not go to extremes in their demands, Thomas B. Finan, local attorney and veteran of the Forty-fifth division, declared last night at a dinner held by Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, in honor of its members who are veterans of World War II.

Finan, in recounting some of the experiences veterans encountered, reminded the audience of 165 persons that ex-servicemen still have duties to perform in America as citizens.

William C. Walsh, former attorney general, told the veterans they live in the best country in the world and that it is up to them to keep it that way.

Other speakers on the program were City Commissioner William V. Keegan and Stanley R. Fretwell, grand knight of the council. The latter welcomed the guests at the dinner.

Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., was toastmaster. The Rev. W. Joyce Russell, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church and chaplain of the council, gave the invocation.

One hundred and forty-five members of the council served in World War II and some are still in the armed forces. Seventy were present at the dinner.

State Lets Contracts For Maryland Coal

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30—(AP)—The state has contracted for the delivery of 81,880 tons of Maryland-produced coal for a year starting April 1, Walter N. Kirkman, budget director, informed Gov. O'Conor today. Kirkman said that the contracts were let in view of the unsettled conditions of the coal industry, and added that if price rises resulted from the present mine strike, adjustments would have to be made in the contracts. Included were the following contracts:

Davis Coal and Coke Company, Kempton mines, 16,000 tons, $4.10 to $4.20 a ton.

Consolidated Fuel Company, Inc., Big Vein Georges Creek 1, 3 and 4, Tyson 10 and 17, 11,800 tons, $4.20

McKeldin Asserts County Vote May Decide Election

Gives Talk at Anniversary Dinner of Young Men's Republican Club

Citing the fact that Republican victories in Maryland in the past have always been won by narrow margins, Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican candidate for the nomination for governor, and mayor of Baltimore, last night told members and guests of the Young Men's Republican club that the vote from one Republican stronghold in the state such as Allegany county could mean the difference between victory and defeat in the forthcoming state elections.

Speaking on the occasion of the club's second anniversary dinner, held at the Centre Street Methodist church, Mayor McKeldin said "It's too early for issues yet," and proceeded to give a typical McKeldin speech replete with numerous jokes, poems and human interest stories picked up by the candidate in his campaign travels throughout the state.

Explains Appointments

In speaking of his term in office as mayor of Baltimore the speaker gave what appeared to be a defense of what he said had been referred to as the lack of Republican appointments in Baltimore following his election as mayor. Commenting on this, Mayor McKeldin explained that nineteen members of the Baltimore city council are Democrats and that this group can refuse to confirm some of his appointments. In some cases, the mayor continued, Republicans were not named as applicants for various posts since the council would not confirm them. In this way, considerable embarrassment was avoided, the speaker said.

McKeldin last night highly praised State Senator Joseph A. Wilmer, Charles county, candidate for United States Senate; George C. Doub, candidate for attorney general, and Alexander T. Crier, Salisbury, for state comptroller.

Galen L. Tait, chairman of the Maryland State Central Committee, told the guests, "I believe in the recruitment of the Republican party," and urged Republicans to reach out for the younger generation."

Sees GOP Opportunity

Referring to what he termed the present "five-way fight in the Democratic party," Tait said the Republicans have a great opportunity this year.

A total of 184 guests were served at last night's dinner, the ladies in the kitchen reported. Roast Maryland turkey was served.

The invocation was offered by Dr. H. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, with the address of welcome given by Raymond Messmer, Sr., president of the club. Lewis M. Wilson was toastmaster and introduced Mayor McKeldin, Chairman Tait, and Mayor Thomas S. Post. Special music was furnished by the Harmonizers, consisting of Miss Earline Hardman, Miss Darris Phillips, Mrs. Jack Palmer and Mrs. John Dorn, pianist. A duet was sung by Miss Earline Hardman and Robert L. Smith.

Legion Arranges Americanism Day

Marked by a large street parade and a special program in Riverside Park, Sunday, May 19, will be observed here as "I Am an American Day," according to Thomas F. Conlon.

The program and parade, under the auspices of Mountain District, Department of Maryland American Legion, will include numerous organizations being invited to participate. Frank Powers, Mountain District vice-commander has appointed Conlon county chairman, and letters have been mailed to organizations throughout this area, urging participation.

A meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Friday, in the city hall to complete plans for the program. Organizations in the city and county have been asked to send representatives.

Tentative plans call for a street parade to be formed in the vicinity of Maryland State Armory, South Centre street. The line of march will be Centre street to Market, to Cumberland to Riverside Park on Greene street. The parade is scheduled to move at 3 p. m., and the ceremony and program in the park is scheduled to start at 3:30 p. m.

Conlon said last night an effort is being made to make this an all foot parade, with no vehicles or floats permitted. In the event of rain or bad weather, he indicated the park ceremony will be held indoors at the state armory.

ROUTINE BUSINESS IS TRANSACTED BY COMMISSIONERS

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners were advised by Rep. J. Glenn Beall, yesterday that he is making an effort to obtain an artillery field piece to be placed on the court house lawn, as a memorial of World War II. He said he had contacted the chief of ordnance, at the request of the county board, and was informed that "not many field pieces are available at this time," but he would obtain one as soon as possible.

The commissioners voted unanimously to contribute $50 to the fund being raised in this section of Western Maryland. In making an appeal for funds, Mrs. Esther B. Rosenbaum, chairman of the Allegany and Garrett county section of the American Cancer Council, cited that eighty-four residents of this county have been given free treatment up to April 1 at the cancer clinic conducted at Memorial hospital.

John H. Carscaden was asked to investigate a report by Commissioners James Holmes that water is flowing over the Miller road near Barton and causing damage.

The commissioner authorized the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company to remove the gas meters from the court house and the county home, and will pay the company the minimum charge of $1 a month for gas consumed in each building.

Miss Louise Wilson Volunteers Service At Army Hospital

Miss Louise Wilson, 308 Mountain View Drive, left yesterday for Newton D. Baker Army General hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., for one month of voluntary service as a Nurses Aide.

According to Mrs. Porter D. Collins, chairman of the Nurses Aide Corps of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, the hospital authorities appealed to the local chapter for volunteers to assist at the hospital. Only qualified and trained nurses aides were requested.

Miss Wilson took her training at Memorial hospital, and during the war years, when nurses were needed by armed forces badly, Miss Wilson gave many hours of voluntary service here. She is the first member of the local corps to volunteer for service at the army hospital, Mrs. Collins said.

Local News in Brief

Members of the Allegany County League for Equal Rights, an organization which includes some of the county residents who have been unable to obtain liquor licenses under the 1933 act, indicated yesterday that "some steps" will be taken to investigate alleged violations of the law by persons who have permits.

County Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson has filed notice of the appointment of Lester Wilkinson, 167 Bedford street, as his political agent in his campaign for re-election to the county board.

Marriage Licenses Obtained Here By 503 Couples in Month of April

Issuance of marriage licenses in the office of the clerk of court continued at record-breaking proportions in the month of April with a total of 503 licenses having been sold during the month as of last night.

To demonstrate the big business going on in Clerk of Court Robert Jackson's office these days compared to last year, it is recalled that only 185 licenses were issued in April of last year compared to this month's total of 503.

With April over and May coming on followed by June, the proverbial month of weddings, it appears almost certain that the license business will get heavier before it slacks off. April showed an increase of exactly 100 licenses compared to March of this year when 403 licenses were issued. Court attaches predicted yesterday that May and June will probably beat the April record.

Returned servicemen continue to account for the largest number of licenses issued here with the applicants coming mainly from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland. However, some applicants have showed up from most of the eastern states and some from such states as Montana and California.

Acquaintances which started in the armed services has been given as the reason for the number of distant states that show up on the records these days. Cumberland soldiers, for example, have met girls in almost every section of the country and the same is true of Cumberland and tri-state area women in the services.

Eight marriage licenses were

Boughton Blames Lack of Teachers On Scale Pay

Retiring Teacher Signs Statement as Chairman of Legislative Committee

In his last official act before retiring as chairman of the Legislative committee of the Teachers' Association of Allegany County, Orbie B. Boughton signed a statement blaming the "shortage of due compensation" for the inability "to get and to hold" available capable teachers in the public school system.

Boughton, who has been teaching school for fifty-one years in Allegany county, taught his last class — a science class — yesterday afternoon at Fort Hill high school.

At the close of the day he was greeted by a long line of students and teachers who offered congratulations, and for the next two or three days he will work on school reports.

Must Be Met Promptly

But before retiring, Boughton, who has fought a winning battle over the years for more pay for teachers, signed a statement, along with Robert C. Morris and Harold C. Wickard, other members of the Legislative committee of the teachers association, in which they said the inadequate pay situation "must be met promptly and fully for the educational welfare of the children of Maryland."

The statement, issued after the campaign manager of one of the gubernatorial candidates asked the committee for its views on the educational welfare of the state, follows:

"The continued emergency makeshifts in the education of the boys and girls of our state is depriving many thousands of such pupils of the educational advantages that our school population possessed before the war.

"The superior qualifications formerly required for teaching in our schools have been let down 'en masse.' In order to secure enough teachers for the 4,800 classrooms in our counties it has been necessary to grant approximately 900 to 1,000 sub-standard emergency certificates A part of these teachers, it must be said in fairness, are lacking only slightly in the normal academic or professional qualifications. To their credit they are zealous and capable in their work, and have returned to teaching to help out temporarily because of the dire need for well qualified teachers. Even with the letdown in qualifications there is such an inadequate supply of teachers that many school rooms have been abandoned.

"Substitute teachers are scarce and often entirely unavailable, in which case it becomes necessary to send high school classes to an overcrowded study period, or to put a pupil in charge, or to put one teacher in charge of two or more rooms.

Shop for Better Jobs

"New teachers are ever coming and going. They stay only until they can get, in other positions, compensation comparable with the value and importance of their service and the increased cost of subsistence. Even former teachers who have returned from the military service are shopping around for better paying positions.

"Such continuing conditions and make-shifts tragically deny the boys and girls of Maryland a fair chance to gain knowledge and thinking capability which each will need to meet the problems and competitions beyond the portals of the school, and in general to get along well in life.

"There is little real shortage of available capable teachers—but

Nation Owed 278 Billions as of December 31, Speaker Reports

"A nation can be destroyed just as readily by excessive taxation and governmental extravagance, as it can by armed invasion," John L. Hougardy, Baltimore, director of the Maryland Public Expenditures Council, told members of the Allegany County Taxpayers Association last night at a meeting in the city hall auditorium.

"The financial solvency of the nation is the business of every citizen whether he be rich or poor, an investor or a wage earner," the speaker declared. "Unfortunately, some people think since they are wage earners that they do not carry the burden of federal taxation," Hougardy continued. "They have the idea the landlord pays the property tax and the boss pays the federal tax. As a matter of fact, the tenant pays the bulk of the property taxes, in his rent, and in everything he buys and consumes, he pays a part of the federal tax."

Emphasizing the importance of a balanced federal budget and reduced federal spending, Hougardy told his audience that every citizen must be awakened to the fact that each time the government spends money, the individual pays the bills.

Owe 278 Billions

Referring to the national picture, he declared, "The total wealth of the nation, that is the accumulated wealth since the nation started 160 years ago, amounts to about 350 billions of dollars. This includes everything that any working man, business man or banker has accumulated. Now how much do we owe? As of December 31, we owed a total of 278 billions of dollars. And that debt is a first mortgage on every bit of wealth every citizen in the nation owns. In short, though we own 350 billions, we owe 278 billions."

"For sixteen years, the federal government has been spending more money than it took in," Hougardy explained. "Of course in wartime such a procedure is inevitable and no one can criticize it, but it is only common sense to start living within our income now that the war is over. Instead of doing this, the government proposes to spend four billion dollars more in the next fiscal year, than it can take in."

"The federal budget proposes spending thirty-five billions of dollars and provides for an income from taxation of thirty-one billions," he declared. "This deficit is not the result of setting tax rates too low," he explained, "but of spending too much."

Hougardy referred to a pamphlet, copies of which were distributed to those present, and showed how an analysis of the proposed federal budget indicates excessive spending in numerous instances.

Cites Tax Figures

The speaker referred to tax figures as they apply to Maryland people.

"Maryland's share of the veterans' cost for next year will be sixty-four million dollars. Maryland's share of interest on the federal debt will be seventy-six million dollars. Maryland's share of the proposed federal budget is 540 million dollars."

The federal budget will cost each Marylander, on a per capita basis, $270 next year, and each family in Maryland, $1,080.

"If the federal budget is reduced eleven billion dollars next year," the speaker declared, "Marylanders

Court Remands Two Wage Cases Back to Board

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper yesterday decided to remand two appeal cases from decisions of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board to the board, finding that the records in the cases were not in accord with regulations of the state agency. Following a conference with attorneys involved, it was indicated that another hearing in each case before the board will be necessary before the court can take any action in the matter.

Cases Are First Here

The appeals, unique in local court annals, were made by Mrs. Helen A. Alderton, a former employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and Mrs. Mattie M. Shoemaker, a former employe of the Celanese Corporation of America, who were denied compensation by the state board.

Mrs. Shoemaker was represented by William L. Wilson, Jr., while Paul M. Fletcher is counsel for Mrs. Alderton. The board, in denying their claims for compensation, ruled that they were not available for other employment when it was offered. This was denied by attorneys for the two women.

A. A. Levin, of Baltimore, assistant to Attorney-General William A. Curran, represented the state board in court today.

Associate Judge Capper announced the decision of the Court in remanding the cases to the board.

Driver Seeks Damages

Asking $750 damages, suit was filed yesterday in Circuit Court by Harvey Lepley against Elbert Aldridge and Harvey Hogemier, following an automobile accident last November.

Lepley, represented by Clarence Lippel, said he was driving on the Mt. Savage Road, near Corriganville, when his car crashed into a parked machine on the highway. He said the car was owned by Aldridge and had been operated by Hogemier, who parked it on the road without lights. Lepley said his machine crashed into the parked car and was considerably damaged.

Lepley was charged with operating his machine while under the influence of liquor, after a State Police investigation, but he was acquitted when his appeal case was heard during the January term of court. Lippel was his counsel in the appeal case.

MEETING IS PLANNED TO DISCUSS SCHEDULE FOR RETAIL CLERKS

An effort to reach a satisfactory agreement on a work schedule for Cumberland stores will be made at a meeting between store operators and Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, AFL, tentatively set for Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, C. E. Stutzman, president of Allegany Trades Council, announced yesterday.

Members of the union, at a meeting Monday evening, unanimously voted for a 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. schedule Monday through Friday with a 6 p. m. closing hour for Saturdays and said they would call another meeting Saturday at 6 p. m. if store operators insisted on remaining open after that hour, the union official said.

Only a few stores attempted to remain open Monday after 5 a. m. when members of the union reported to the special meeting.

William R. McGinnis, Pittsburgh, international representative of the Clerks union, is expected to attend Friday's meeting. The local asserted that if it were necessary to call a meeting Saturday it would not return to work until the issue is settled.

The schedule suggested by the union is the same as one adopted by the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce several weeks ago. Last week the group decided to open at noon Monday and remain open until 9 p. m. in order to give customers one night a week for shopping.

Annual Program For Mothers Day Planned by FOE

C. William H. Baer To Give Address; Class of Fifty To Be Initiated

The annual Mothers' day service of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, May 12, in the lodge rooms, 65 North Mechanic street, it was announced last night by Harry G. Rice, worthy president.

A group of fifty candidates, comprising the Mothers' day class, will be inducted into the lodge by the aerie officers with Rice presiding at the initiation.

Past State President C. William H. Baer, will deliver a Mothers' day address. Following the ceremony and program, which is open to members only, refreshments and entertainment are to be arranged in charge of Frank H. Schultz, chairman of the committee.

Rice said last night that the Eagles lodge was the first organization to hear about Mothers' day, and Eagles took the initiative in sponsoring local programs throughout the country long before the day was generally observed.

The first public plea for a national Mothers' day was made by the late editor of the Eagles' Magazine, Frank Hering, of South Bend, Ind., more than forty-two years ago, in an address to Indianapolis Eagles, Rice explained. After the Fraternal Order of Eagles continued to sponsor the idea, the movement culminated in the setting aside of a national day by Congress in 1914, after Miss Ann Mae Jarvis, a Philadelphia, Pa., woman urged that the date be the second Sunday in May, the anniversary of her own mother's death, and that the occasion be marked by the wearing of the white carnation, her mothers favorite flower.

On Armistice day, in 1929, the War Mothers of America, recognized the role of Frank Hering and the Eagles in popularizing Mothers' day, by presenting him with a medal upon which is inscribed "The Father of Mothers' Day".

British War Bride Of Nikep Veteran Arrives Here

Mrs. Helen Munson, and her infant child arrived here yesterday as the latest arriving British war bride, according to Mrs. Louise C. Deam, home service secretary of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross.

Mrs. Munson is the war bride of Melvin Munson, a veteran now residing at Nikep, this county. Mrs. Dean met Mrs. Munson at the Western Maryland station yesterday noon, as she arrived from Baltimore. Members of the Munson family also met the train and took the young English girl to Nikep to meet her husband.

Playground Fund Totals $2 50, Keegan Reports

Stating that contributions to the city playground fund now total $250, Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday that two more donations have been received.

Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, contributed $50, and the Wilson Hardware Company, North Mechanic street, donated $25.

Western Maryland To Furlough More Than 300 Workers

Layoffs as Result of Coal Strike Are Effective Today

Between 300 and 400 employes on the Elkins division of the Western Maryland railway will be furloughed today for an indefinite period because of the coal strike, Western Maryland officials said last night. About half the freight hauled by the line is coal from the soft coal mining regions.

William B. Lee, Elkins division engineer, estimated that between 200 and 300 employes will be furloughed from the maintenance of way department.

At the present time there are 550 employes in that department on the Elkins division, and Lee said the furlough today will take about two-fifths of his force. He said last night that he did not know the exact figures.

George R. Lyming, master mechanic of the Elkins division, said he will lose forty employes at Cumberland and about sixty at Elkins as a result of furloughs today in maintenance of equipment, shops and yards departments. There are about 530 employes in those departments on the division.

Joseph M. Miller, Elkins division superintendent, said employes were to be furloughed on the division today but that he did not know how many.

At Hagerstown, Western Maryland officials said 350 employes of that division will be furloughed today because the coal strike has cut heavily into traffic.

Heretofore, furloughing on the Elkins division has been at a minimum.

On April 16, the shops reverted to the five-day week as a direct result of the coal strike. They had been working seven days since 1941.

Rotarians Favor Daylight Saving Time for City

Rotarians yesterday heard arguments for the city manager system of municipal government and voted in favor of daylight saving time for Cumberland.

The city manager plan was discussed by Miss Greta Hearsh, of Allegany high school, and Ronald Screen, of Fort Hill high school, who presented their views on the subject recently before the Kiwanis club. They were pressed into service as pinch hitters, as the Program committee had planned to have a talk by Marion Hargrove, community forum speaker, who had to cancel his Cumberland engagement because of illness.

The high school speakers, both winners of oratorical contests, presented the various advantages of the city manager plan, holding it superior to the commission form and needed in Cumberland because of its simplicity, its unification of authority, its elimination of the spoils system, its possibility for obtaining more efficient administration and its economy possibilities.

The proposal for daylight saving time was approved in a hand vote with a majority of hands favoring it.

Garland L. Johnston, president, announced that the annual club picnic would be resumed this year after abandonment through the war and that it would be held jointly with Kiwanians May 28 at the Cumberland Country Club with golf as the big feature. He appointed a committee on arrangements comprising W. Donald Smith, chairman; John R. Wilkinson, George Schwarzenbach and Henry W. Price.

Guests at the meeting included Thomas V. Litzenburg, Charles E. Kerr, Bedford, Pa., and Michael Heiskell, Frostburg.

Celanese and Union Schedule Wage Session

Wage negotiations between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America, were resumed yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

James A. Holden, commissioner of conciliation, who attended the session, reported that "negotiations are progressing."

Union officials did not comment on the progress of the wage session yesterday but said negotiations will be resumed this afternoon at 2 o'clock and that Commissioner Holden will attend the session.

The union, which is demanding a twelve cents per hour wage increase, recently refused a company offer of a five per cent wage increase. Union officials pointed out they are opposed to a percentage increase and that the offer excluded some 1,000 members from any wage boost.

Price of Soups, Salads and Pies Increased One Cent at Celanese

The three cafeterias at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America yesterday increased the price of soups, salads and pies one cent to help bring the cafeterias out of the red.

Fred T. Small, plant manager, said yesterday that the cafeterias, non-profit concerns operated for the convenience of the employes, have been showing a yearly deficit of $70,000 for some time.

The company took up the matter with the Office of Price Administration with the result that the OPA relaxed previous restrictions to the extent that the company will be allowed to charge one cent more for all salads, soups and pies.

The OPA order, received by the company, will ease the situation in the cafeterias but still won't bring the cafeterias entirely out of the red, Small said. Computed on a yearly basis, the increase in prices for soups, salads and pies will lop off $40,000 of the deficit, leaving the cafeterias still in the red to the extent of $25,000.

The plant manager said last night that he intended to pursue the matter further and would seek another readjustment from the OPA.

Small said the company has had an increasingly difficult time in obtaining various foodstuffs, especially meats, with the result that the company is now urging employes to bring their own lunches to work wherever possible.

Prior to the war, the three cafeterias offered as many as eight entrees but this has of necessity been cut down in recent years, it was explained.

Memorial Hospital Cadet Nurses Leave for Tacoma Indian Hospital

Dorothy Crowe and Dorothy Tewell Will Study There for Six Months

Instead of giving the country back to the Indians, two Cadet nurses at the Memorial hospital School of Nursing are on their way west to take care of the Redskins.

The cadets are Miss Dorothy N. Crowe, Eckhart, and Miss Dorothy Jean Tewell, Robertsdale, Pa., who left Cumberland on the Capitol Limited last night on the first leg of their trip to the Tacoma Indian hospital, Tacoma, Wash.

Miss Crowe and Miss Tewell were members of the upper fifth of their Cadet Nursing Corps class and as a result were selected to finish their nursing training at a cadet corps affiliated hospital.

That's how they happen to be on their way to Tacoma where they will spend the next six months completing their three-year cadet corps course. Then they will return to get their diplomas from Memorial hospital.

Neither Miss Crowe nor Miss Tewell are too well acquainted with what they will encounter when they arrive at Tacoma, but said last night that all of the patients are Indians and that they are cared for by the usual hospital staff.

They will learn more about that Saturday after they arrive in Tacoma.

While they are embarking on their longest trips, neither of the young women appeared too excited about it. Miss Crowe arrived at Queen City station about fifteen minutes before train time; Miss Tewell came in about five minutes later.

All the while relatives, friends, classmates and other nurses at the hospital were arriving to bid them goodbye and wish them a happy trip.

Something Different

Miss Crowe and Miss Tewell think their experience will be "wonderful," a "new adventure" and "very interesting. At least it will be different," they said.

Miss Crowe is the daughter of Clifford N. Crowe, Eckhart, and niece of Mrs. Mary Dicken, 17 Wempe drive, with whom she resides. She is a graduate of Beall high school, Frostburg. Miss Tewell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tewell, Robertsdale, and is a graduate of Robertsdale high school.

The production is being given for the benefit of the sisters convent building fund and will be repeated tonight and tomorrow evening. Father Fabian, O.F.M. Cap., and Leo H. Ley, Sr., are directors.

A feature of the production was an old fashioned minstrel band, with Father Frederick, O.F.M. Cap., in charge. The musical program also included several numbers by the Elks quartet, as well as solos, duets and trios.

Edward Neus served as interlocutor; Francis Bareis, Herman Grabenstein, Hugh Hopwood, Francis Collins and William Kuntz, the end men. There were also several tap and novelty dance numbers by Dorothy Rowan, Maxine Hawkins and LaVerne Wineland.

Wastepaper Drive Nets Twelve Tons

Reduced Electric Rates To Become Effective Today

New Potomac Edison Company electric rates, which provide an appreciable reduction in the monthly bills for practically all light and power customers served by the PE system, go into effect today as ordered by the Maryland Public Service Commission.

The first electric bills to reflect the rate reduction will be those calculated on meter readings made on and after May 1. Domestic, commercial, street lighting and small power customers, classed according to their use of electricity, will benefit from the reductions.

Also effective today is the revised Potomac Edison rural line extension plan which involves a reduction in the cost to the rural resident who desires electric service. Under this new plan the company will require an assured revenue per month of $6 per mile of new rural line. Customers along each mile of line may share the assured $6 and for their share receive the number of kilowatt hours of electricity provided by the rate schedule applying.

The electric rate reduction effective today is the sixth since 1930.

War Veterans Should Not Go to Extremes In Demands, Finan Says

War veterans, while they are entitled to everything promised to them, should not go to extremes in their demands, Thomas B. Finan, local attorney and veteran of the Forty-fifth division, declared last night at a dinner held by Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, in honor of its members who are veterans of World War II.

Finan, in recounting some of the experiences veterans encountered, reminded the audience of 165 persons that ex-servicemen still have duties to perform in America as citizens.

William C. Walsh, former attorney general, told the veterans they live in the best country in the world and that it is up to them to keep it that way.

Other speakers on the program were City Commissioner William V. Keegan and Stanley R. Fretwell, grand knight of the council. The latter welcomed the guests at the dinner.

Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., was toastmaster. The Rev. W. Joyce Russell, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church and chaplain of the council, gave the invocation.

One hundred and forty-five members of the council served in World War II and some are still in the armed forces. Seventy were present at the dinner.

State Lets Contracts For Maryland Coal

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30—(AP)—The state has contracted for the delivery of 81,880 tons of Maryland-produced coal for a year starting April 1, Walter N. Kirkman, budget director, informed Gov. O'Conor today. Kirkman said that the contracts were let in view of the unsettled conditions of the coal industry, and added that if price rises resulted from the present mine strike, adjustments would have to be made in the contracts. Included were the following contracts:

Davis Coal and Coke Company, Kempton mines, 16,000 tons, $4.10 to $4.20 a ton.

Consolidated Fuel Company, Inc., Big Vein Georges Creek 1, 3 and 4, Tyson 10 and 17, 11,800 tons, $4.20

McKeldin Asserts County Vote May Decide Election

Gives Talk at Anniversary Dinner of Young Men's Republican Club

Citing the fact that Republican victories in Maryland in the past have always been won by narrow margins, Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican candidate for the nomination for governor, and mayor of Baltimore, last night told members and guests of the Young Men's Republican club that the vote from one Republican stronghold in the state such as Allegany county could mean the difference between victory and defeat in the forthcoming state elections.

Speaking on the occasion of the club's second anniversary dinner, held at the Centre Street Methodist church, Mayor McKeldin said "It's too early for issues yet," and proceeded to give a typical McKeldin speech replete with numerous jokes, poems and human interest stories picked up by the candidate in his campaign travels throughout the state.

Explains Appointments

In speaking of his term in office as mayor of Baltimore the speaker gave what appeared to be a defense of what he said had been referred to as the lack of Republican appointments in Baltimore following his election as mayor. Commenting on this, Mayor McKeldin explained that nineteen members of the Baltimore city council are Democrats and that this group can refuse to confirm some of his appointments. In some cases, the mayor continued, Republicans were not named as applicants for various posts since the council would not confirm them. In this way, considerable embarrassment was avoided, the speaker said.

McKeldin last night highly praised State Senator Joseph A. Wilmer, Charles county, candidate for United States Senate; George C. Doub, candidate for attorney general, and Alexander T. Crier, Salisbury, for state comptroller.

Galen L. Tait, chairman of the Maryland State Central Committee, told the guests, "I believe in the recruitment of the Republican party," and urged Republicans to reach out for the younger generation."

Sees GOP Opportunity

Referring to what he termed the present "five-way fight in the Democratic party," Tait said the Republicans have a great opportunity this year.

A total of 184 guests were served at last night's dinner, the ladies in the kitchen reported. Roast Maryland turkey was served.

The invocation was offered by Dr. H. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, with the address of welcome given by Raymond Messmer, Sr., president of the club. Lewis M. Wilson was toastmaster and introduced Mayor McKeldin, Chairman Tait, and Mayor Thomas S. Post. Special music was furnished by the Harmonizers, consisting of Miss Earline Hardman, Miss Darris Phillips, Mrs. Jack Palmer and Mrs. John Dorn, pianist. A duet was sung by Miss Earline Hardman and Robert L. Smith.

Legion Arranges Americanism Day

Marked by a large street parade and a special program in Riverside Park, Sunday, May 19, will be observed here as "I Am an American Day," according to Thomas F. Conlon.

The program and parade, under the auspices of Mountain District, Department of Maryland American Legion, will include numerous organizations being invited to participate. Frank Powers, Mountain District vice-commander has appointed Conlon county chairman, and letters have been mailed to organizations throughout this area, urging participation.

A meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Friday, in the city hall to complete plans for the program. Organizations in the city and county have been asked to send representatives.

Tentative plans call for a street parade to be formed in the vicinity of Maryland State Armory, South Centre street. The line of march will be Centre street to Market, to Cumberland to Riverside Park on Greene street. The parade is scheduled to move at 3 p. m., and the ceremony and program in the park is scheduled to start at 3:30 p. m.

Conlon said last night an effort is being made to make this an all foot parade, with no vehicles or floats permitted. In the event of rain or bad weather, he indicated the park ceremony will be held indoors at the state armory.

Marriage Licenses Obtained Here By 503 Couples in Month of April

Issuance of marriage licenses in the office of the clerk of court continued at record-breaking proportions in the month of April with a total of 503 licenses having been sold during the month as of last night.

To demonstrate the big business going on in Clerk of Court Robert Jackson's office these days compared to last year, it is recalled that only 185 licenses were issued in April of last year compared to this month's total of 503.

With April over and May coming on followed by June, the proverbial month of weddings, it appears almost certain that the license business will get heavier before it slacks off. April showed an increase of exactly 100 licenses compared to March of this year when 403 licenses were issued. Court attaches predicted yesterday that May and June will probably beat the April record.

Returned servicemen continue to account for the largest number of licenses issued here with the applicants coming mainly from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland. However, some applicants have showed up from most of the eastern states and some from such states as Montana and California.

Acquaintances which started in the armed services has been given as the reason for the number of distant states that show up on the records these days. Cumberland soldiers, for example, have met girls in almost every section of the country and the same is true of Cumberland and tri-state area women in the services.

Eight marriage licenses were

ROUTINE BUSINESS IS TRANSACTED BY COMMISSIONERS

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners were advised by Rep. J. Glenn Beall, yesterday that he is making an effort to obtain an artillery field piece to be placed on the court house lawn, as a memorial of World War II. He said he had contacted the chief of ordnance, at the request of the county board, and was informed that "not many field pieces are available at this time," but he would obtain one as soon as possible.

The commissioners voted unanimously to contribute $50 to the fund being raised in this section of Western Maryland. In making an appeal for funds, Mrs. Esther B. Rosenbaum, chairman of the Allegany and Garrett county section of the American Cancer Council, cited that eighty-four residents of this county have been given free treatment up to April 1 at the cancer clinic conducted at Memorial hospital.

John H. Carscaden was asked to investigate a report by Commissioners James Holmes that water is flowing over the Miller road near Barton and causing damage.

The commissioner authorized the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company to remove the gas meters from the court house and the county home, and will pay the company the minimum charge of $1 a month for gas consumed in each building.

Miss Louise Wilson Volunteers Service At Army Hospital

According to Mrs. Porter D. Collins, chairman of the Nurses Aide Corps of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, the hospital authorities appealed to the local chapter for volunteers to assist at the hospital. Only qualified and trained nurses aides were requested.

Miss Wilson took her training at Memorial hospital, and during the war years, when nurses were needed by armed forces badly, Miss Wilson gave many hours of voluntary service here. She is the first member of the local corps to volunteer for service at the army hospital, Mrs. Collins said.

Local News in Brief

Retiring Teacher Signs Statement as Chairman of Legislative Committee

In his last official act before retiring as chairman of the Legislative committee of the Teachers' Association of Allegany County, Orble B. Boughton signed a statement blaming the "shortage of due compensation" for the inability "to get and to hold" available capable teachers in the public school system.

Boughton, who has been teaching school for fifty-one years in Allegany county, taught his last class — a science class — yesterday afternoon at Fort Hill high school.

At the close of the day he was greeted by a long line of students and teachers who offered congratulations, and for the next two or three days he will work on school reports.

Must Be Met Promptly

But before retiring, Boughton, who has fought a winning battle over the years for more pay for teachers, signed a statement, along with Robert C. Morris and Harold C. Wickard, other members of the Legislative committee of the teachers association, in which they said the inadequate pay situation "must be met promptly and fully for the educational welfare of the children of Maryland."

The statement, issued after the campaign manager of one of the gubernatorial candidates asked the committee for its views on the educational welfare of the state, follows:

"The continued emergency makeshifts in the education of the boys and girls of our state is depriving many thousands of such pupils of the educational advantages that our school population possessed before the war.

"The superior qualifications formerly required for teaching in our schools have been let down 'en masse.' In order to secure enough teachers for the 4,800 classrooms in our counties it has been necessary to grant approximately 900 to 1,000 sub-standard emergency certificates. A part of these teachers, it must be said in fairness, are lacking only slightly in the normal academic or professional qualifications. To their credit they are zealous and capable in their work, and have returned to teaching to help out temporarily because of the dire need for well qualified teachers. Even with the letdown in qualifications there is such an inadequate supply of teachers that many school rooms have been abandoned.

"Substitute teachers are scarce and often entirely unavailable, in which case it becomes necessary to send high school classes to an overcrowded study period, or to put a pupil in charge, or to put one teacher in charge of two or more rooms.

Shop for Better Jobs

"New teachers are ever coming and going. They stay only until they can get, in other positions, compensation comparable with the value and importance of their service and the increased cost of subsistence. Even former teachers who have returned from the military service are shopping around for better paying positions.

"Such continuing conditions and make-shifts tragically deny the boys and girls of Maryland a fair chance to gain knowledge and thinking capability which each will need to meet the problems and competitions beyond the portals of the school, and in general to get along well in life.

"There is little real shortage of available capable teachers—bu
